$10 Billion Tax Cut Needed This Year, President Asserts

Wants Congress Action Even If Revisions Are Abandoned

BY FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy made it clear today that he wants Congress to vote a tax cut of at least $10 billion this year—even if it abandons the tax revisions he has proposed.

Addressing an economic growth symposium sponsored by the American Bankers Association, Kennedy said that Congress might conclude that a straight cut in tax rates without revisions would be simplest and best.

The President strongly indicated that he would not balk at such a turn of events.

"The first priority is a bill," he said.

In fact, Kennedy said, Congress might decide on a tax rate cut of $13 billion.

Higher Cut Acceptable

He indicated such a move would be acceptable.

"If we're going to err," he said, "I would certainly err on the side of a big enough tax cut."

At another point, he said, "If we're going to do this, we might as well do it right or not at all."

In his prepared remarks, Kennedy said critics of his tax proposals have an obligation to offer positive alternatives.

The President said his proposal would promote the kind of economic growth that could add $5,000 to the income of the average American family during the next 10 years. That would be an average annual earnings increase of $500 a family.

Kennedy acknowledged that his tax bill "is now under attack from both the left and the right."

But the attackers, he said, "are under some obligation to put forward a solution of their own" to the growth-rate problem if they don't like his idea of cutting taxes by $10.2 billion during the next three years.

He also had sharp words for those who want lower taxes, provided they reap the biggest benefits.

"The prospects for tax reduction and economic growth must not be Turn to Page 6, Col. 3

Forecast Says -12 Tuesday, 10 Cold Days

Midweek Weather Should be Warmer; Drop Seen Friday

Warm weekend weather came to a freezing halt this morning, with a 4 below reading registered in Appleton at 9 a.m. And the weatherman claims the icy climate is here to stay for another 10 days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, predicted a low of 12 below and a high of 6 above for Tuesday. The weather bureau said temperatures will moderate Wednesday or Thursday, but plunge again Friday.

Appleton's cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., recorded a low of 4 below at 9 a.m. today.

In Neenah, WJAN Radio's weather scope reported readings of 2 above at 5 a.m., zero at 6 a.m., minus 1, the low, at 6:30 a.m., zero at 7 a.m., 1 above at 8 a.m. and 2 above at 9 a.m.

Oshkosh Reading

WOSH Radio, Oshkosh, had a low of 8 below at 5:30 a.m., and 3 below continuously from 6 to 9 a.m.

Appleton observer Ralph Dorn, 136 N. Story St., recorded a low of 8 below early this morning.

Dorn also said the temperature should plunge to 12 below Tuesday.

WJHK-FM, on Lake Winnebago near Chilton, reported a low of 12 below at 7 a.m., with a rise to 3 below by 9 a.m. The station said winds stayed constant, between 6 and 7 miles an hour.

The State Traffic Patrol said early today that light snow had caused a few isolated slippery spots on Highways south of a line from Prairie du Chien through Madison to Port Washington.

Roads north of that line were in Hurley was the coldest spot in the nation early today with 28 below zero.

Resentment Over Exclusion Of Britain Major Factor In Refusal to Sign Treaty

BY NEL SLIS

BRUSSELS (AP)—Italy and the Netherlands took the lead today in striking back at France as the ruling body of the European Common Market gathered for the first time since the French vetoed Britain's entry into the group.

Both the Italians and Dutch made plain that they would not now sign a new treaty for trade and aid with 18 African states, all but two of them former French colonies.

The delay means that for another year at least Frenchmen will have to pay higher prices for African coffee and African bananas, among other things.

African Aid Program

Under the new agreement, aid to African producers from a six-nation $730-million fund would have taken the place of subsidies France has paid. The fund is also to help the Africans develop new crops and industries.

The Common Market Council of Ministers is meeting for a two-day session in an atmosphere tense with resentments. The other five members—West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—are angry with the French for blackballing Britain.

The French feel that the others are ganging up on them.

The African treaty was to have been signed this week at Yaounde, Cameroon. Now it seems likely to be deferred at least until the end of May. By that time Italy and the Netherlands will have elected new parliaments.

French Angered

Informed sources said deferment of the agreement angered French representative Jean Marc Boegner, who said, "This will be unfortunate for the Common Market."

The African treaty is close to the hearts of the French because it would tie the whole former French empire in Africa to the Common Market. The other European nations do not oppose it but they want to show their annoyance with the French.

"European Crisis"

Ambassador George Damas of Gabon said the 18 new nations hoped they would not be made to suffer from reprisals taken by some Common Market members.

"After all, this is exclusively a European crisis," he said. "I hope that at least we will get assurances that it will be signed eventually."

The ministers also will take up relations with the Middle East. Iran wants a special trade agreement with the six nations of the Common Market.

Turkey, which considers itself a European country, wants formal association with the Common Market. Israel also wants a special trade agreement, but the talks have so far come to no conclusion.

Atlanta Racial Buffer Barricade Is Breached

ATLANTA (AP)—City officials planned today to repair a weekend breach made in Atlanta's so-called Berlin wall—actually barricades set up to create a racial buffer zone in the southwest section.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. said Sunday night it was up to the city to fix the wood and steel barrier breached on Harlan Road Friday night. A section was sawed off and tossed into a creek. The next night somebody filled the damaged portion with bushes and tree limbs.

Thinks 4 U. S. Fliers Died in '61 Invasion

Dirksen Ready to Submit Findings to Senate Probers

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said today he has uncovered evidence that four American fliers were killed in the abortive 1961 invasion of Cuba.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he has completed a one-man inquiry into the Bay of Pigs disaster and is ready to turn his findings over to Senate investigators.

Other than to report the belief that four American lives were lost, he declined to discuss the evidence he has assembled. Some of it came from participants in the invasion and some from U.S. military personnel in the area at the time.

Early Report Denied

The Republican leader said the four fliers were shot down in invasion planes which did not carry U.S. markings. Presumably they were in B-26 bombers downed by jet trainers inherited by Fidel Castro from the overthrown Batista regime.

News stories at the time mentioned that one U.S. civilian flier might have been shot down. This report later was labeled erroneous.

Dirksen said he plans to discuss his findings with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee.

A subcommittee inquiry into the military strength of Soviet-dominated Cuba is expected to get under way this week. Stennis has indicated he regards the 1961 invasion as "spilled milk" to which the group would not be justified in devoting much time at this point. Dirksen disagreed.

"It seems to me it becomes a matter of some importance when even four American lives are lost," he said.

Dirksen and other Republicans have contended that Atty. Gen. Turn to Page 6, Col. 3

Big Area of Lake Michigan Frozen Solid

The Coast Guard said Michigan ports below the solid freeze line display a variety of conditions in one of the area's most severe winters.

The cutters Woodbine, Arundel and Raritan were at work today attempting to break a path for two inbound tankers stalled some seven to eight miles offshore from Muskegon. Two car ferries apparently little difficulty in clearing the harbor and ice field.

The cutter Sundew, meanwhile, was reported 10 miles below South Fox Island, having inched along only 21 miles in 24 hours after departing her base at Charlevoix.

The Ludington Coast Guard lifeboat station reported no car ferries stalled in that area and said ice there was breaking up.

Scientific Inquiry

Computer Shows Only 4 Epistles by St. Paul

LONDON (AP)—Two researchers using an electronic computer have decided that St. Paul was the author of only four of the 14 Pauline epistles in the New Testament.

Scientific evidence for their thesis is to be published next month by Dr. G. H. C. MacGregor, professor of Bible criticism at Glasgow University, and the Rev. A. Morton, a minister at Culross Abbey, Fife.

Nature of Inquiry

Together they programmed the computer with a quarter of a million words of Greek prose and analyzed the results of a stylistic study of the epistles and work by other Greek authors.

Morton told a newsman: "The results are convincing. The work is based on the principle that authors have certain habits of style deeply ingrained. For the present study we have considered such things as the space between the uses of the word 'and,' repetitive uses of the word, sentences beginning with the word and so on."

Morton said their paper will present for the first time scientific evidence in support of the theory that only four of the epistles—Romans, First and Second Corinthians, and Galatians—were

11 Die, 34 Hurt in Colombian Clash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The Confederation of Colombian Workers blamed the government today for a clash between troops and striking cement workers that killed 11 persons and wounded 34 near Medellin Saturday.

The confederation charged the army ignored the strikers' constitutional rights and escorted a caravan delivering cement from the plant.

The government countered that extremist elements ambushed the caravan and began shooting at the escort, forcing the troops to return fire. All the dead were strikers. Eleven soldiers were wounded. Authorities have arrested 94 persons.

The cement workers struck three weeks ago demanding higher pay and fringe benefits.

Tam O'Shanter's Hostess as 32 Rinks Vie For 10th Anniversary Bonspiel Honors

Monday, Feb. 25, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent A10

On Hand When registration began Thursday morning were Mrs. Louis Phenner, Menasha, a committee member; Mrs. Ray Fallon Appleton, Mrs. N. P. Engler, Appleton, also a member of the committee, and Mrs. Richard Ahrens, also of Appleton.

Below, Mrs. D. C. Evans and Mrs. Dudley Eisele, Appleton, and Mrs. Harry Guest, Oshkosh, watch Mayor Clarence Mitchell get the 10th Anniversary Bonspiel underway by throwing the first stone. The first Bonspiel was held in Appleton in 1954.

Back on 'Home Base' for their 10th anniversary Bonspiel, The Badger Women's Curling Association neatly combined business and pleasure during the weekend. The agenda opened with a board meeting and breakfast at 9 a.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Farver, Neenah. The first stone was thrown by Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell at 10:50 a.m. that day, and official competition began 10 minutes later.

Thirty-two rinks competed for the Wisconsin State Championship. Final play was completed at the 1 p.m. event Sunday. From the 10 original clubs designated as charter members, the Association now boasts 20 member organizations. Mrs. D. C. Evans, rules chairman at this year's 'spiel, was named first president. This year's newly elected officers are Harold Sommers, Portage, president; Mrs. H. H. Roberts, Wausau, vice president; Mrs. Robert Dosen, Wisconsin Rapids, secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Jamieson, Portage, treasurer. The first day's competition was interrupted for a buffet supper for all curlers, held at 6 p.m. Thursday at Butte des Morts Golf Club. Competitors also joined for a buffet supper Saturday evening at the Appleton Curling Club, setting for the event. Winner of the first event was the Norma McKahan rink, Wausau, defeating the Marian Cottrell rink, Madison; second event, the Betty Snetzky rink, Milwaukee, besting the Bea Evans rink, Appleton; third event, the Margaret Barrington rink, Waupaca, over the Marian Urban rink, Wausau, and fourth event, the Mae Sommers rink, Portage, defeating defending champion, the Tilly Moses rink, Waupaca. Mrs. Farver was general chairman of the weekend program. Assisting her were Mmes. James Arnold, Al Fahrenkrug, Ted Perry and William Hofert, Neenah; Mrs. Harry Guest, Oshkosh; Mmes. Richard Hansen, Lewis Phenner and Paul Blackwood, Menasha, and Mmes. M. J. Schulerberg, Robert Wirth, N. P. Engler, Dudley Eisele and D. C. Evans, Appleton.

Hunger and the Chill of unusually cold weather were routed as the Badger Women's Curling Association members enjoyed a buffet supper Saturday evening at the Appleton Curling Club. Above, discussing the afternoon play as they fill their plates, are Mrs. Lewis Phenner, Menasha, and Mrs. Bruce Pickett, Neenah. Below, in the bright and intricate sweaters that are part of curling tradition, are Mrs. Stuart Herwig, Arlington, Mrs. Robert Wirth, Appleton, Mrs. Alvin Gessner, Arlington, and Mrs. Arthur Juneau, Wausau. ## Your Problems

Parish Takes Vote; Minister Won't Visit Without Calling

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I thought you might like to know that you have changed the living habits of several hundred people in this small Ohio town.

Our minister read an excerpt from your column to us and asked the members of the congregation to write to him and cast their vote — "With Ann Landers" or "Against Ann Landers."

Landers

The letter was from the woman who wanted to know if it was all right for a clergyman to drop in on members of his congregation for a brief visit without telephoning first. You said nobody should drop in on anyone without first phoning to learn if it is convenient.

The church bulletin just carried the announcement: "Ann Landers wins Ten To One."

So now, much to the relief of all the women in this area, the clergyman will discontinue his practice of popping in for a surprise call. He has announced that from now on he will check first, and believe me, Ann, we are all mighty grateful to you. — Affirmative Vote

Dear Affirmative: Thank you for passing the word. I had a handful of letters from clergy-men who also passed the word. They didn't like my advice.

Some ministers said they must make as many as two dozen calls in one afternoon and it's not possible to check first. In special cases, I submit, it may be inconvenient but all women appreciate a little advance warning.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you don't write an etiquette column but since your advice is rooted in common sense I'm hoping you'll consider my letter in that category and sneak it through.

My grandparents are giving my fiancée and me a substantial check for a wedding gift. His parents are doing the same. We are planning to display our wedding gifts and don't know what to do about the checks.

Is it proper to display checks or cash? It hardly seems in good taste, but then it's unfair to those who give such a gift is nothing is said or shown. How should this sticky wicket be handled? — Uppa Tree

Dear Uppa: Cash and checks should never be displayed. The sealed envelopes, however, could be placed among the other gifts with a line written across the envelope. Sample: "With love from Grandmother and Grandfather Jones." The amount, of course, would not be mentioned.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 17 years of age and an honor student. I know right from wrong and have never been a problem to my parents. There is an air base near town. Several fellows stationed there have been coming to the coffee house where the high school gang gathers after school and on weekends.

One of these Air Force fellows asked me for a date. I told him I'd have to get permission from my parents because I don't know anything about him.

Well, my dad just about took my head off when I suggested it. He said I was not to go out with a serviceman, that they are all tramps, and it would be very damaging to my reputation.

I think he is being unjust. This young man has a high-born manner, seems extremely intelligent and refined. I want to get to know him better and am pleading for you to intercede in the name of justice. — Dottie

Dear Dottie: I agree that your parents should not allow you to date strangers. But your dad is dead wrong when he says all servicemen are tramps. Servicemen come from every type of home, and most of them are perfect gentlemen.

If you took a shine to this particular chap I suggest that he be invited to your home for dinner so your parents can meet him and judge for themselves.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him,

Find the Criminal At Bridge

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"You know my methods, Watson," said Sherlock Holmes. "There has been a fiendish bridge crime here, and I mean proper fate." Watson shook his head doubtfully; he couldn't see any evidence of a crime.

South won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and immediately cashed the two top clubs.

Nothing could stop South from ruffing his low spade in the dummy, after which he could draw trumps and claim the rest of the tricks.

You must now pick your side. Do you agree with Dr. Watson that no crime took place? Or do you feel that Sherlock Holmes would have kept quiet unless he had sure knowledge of a dirty deed?

You're right, of course, when you decide to string along with Holmes. The criminal is West, who gave South the chance to play the hand beautifully.

If West opens a trump, the slam goes down the drain. South can ruff a club with the king of hearts, but this leaves only one trump in dummy. When West is given a trick with the queen of clubs he returns another trump, thus removing the last trump from dummy.

South must eventually lose a spade trick as well as a club. This costs him his slam contract.

West should be sentenced to thirty days on bread and water. A trump lead is indicated when dummy supports one of his part-

Live Within Your Income Questions on Donations Show Spiritual Concern

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A lot of careless words are thrown around these days about this "materialistic world we live in." Well, I, for one, am inclined to soft-peddle any such easy phrases. When I read the letters that come to me from all parts of the country, I see how deeply concerned many people are with the spiritual aspects of life.

Unfortunately, these, too, must relate to money. Time and again someone writes to ask how an allowance for church donations can be found, where no fund exists. A young couple with small children become conscience-stricken realizing they've taken no part in supporting their community church. A woman asks for help in making ends meet on a depressingly small income — "But," she admonishes, "don't try to make any change in that $10 a week I give to my church. I just won't cut down on that."

Money Not the Only Gift
What all of us have to face is that active financial support of a church is necessarily related to the individual's income. Even conscience must somehow be fitted into the budget. But why must money be the only gift acceptable? Time and talents are precious gifts, too. If you can't possibly give all the money you'd like to perhaps you can help raise funds somewhere else. Most churches need volunteer services.

— help with bazaars, running many necessary errands, sewing, collecting donations of clothes or supporting food sales with your own homemade pies and cakes.

As to money, give something, of course. I do not believe, however, the individual is expected to neglect his civic obligations, impoverish his family, fail to consider the future, in order to feel he is satisfying his deeper obligations. Your church needs responsible supporters who can stand on their own feet.

I recall a member of my own church, who gave far more than she could afford, year after year. Eventually, she became old and poverty stricken, and had to turn to the church for her entire support. I cannot help wondering if she would have been wiser to have planned more realistically for the future.

People often tell me they are merely confused when they're told "Give what you feel is right." Just what is right?

Statistics on Donations
Well, there are some guides available that might be of help. The National Council of Churches of Christ, consisting of the 12 largest Protestant churches, compiled statistics in 1961 showing the average individual gave $9.89 yearly. In the Reform and Conservative groups of the Jewish congregations, support comes largely from dues averaging $175 for each member. Catholics who have an additional burden of supporting a network of parochial schools are asked to contribute up to 10 per cent of their net income, with five per cent going for the support of the parish church and the other five per cent for distribution among charity appeals.

If your own church donations fall short of your goal, try this: Slice off one dollar from every item in your budget, where you can conceivably do so. Not off the rent, mortgage, time payments for which you are obligated, but look to the areas where some flexibility is possible — food, clothing, entertainment, or daily expenses such as transportation, reading matter, beauty shop.

A sincere search for dimes and dollars is pretty sure to turn some up. Such consistent planning is more reliable and more productive than a once-in-a-while impulsive gift.

(Mary Feeley will welcome your questions on money problems. Write her in care of this paper.)

Husbands Respond to Lordly Treatment

Making the man of the house feel like the lord of the manor is a trick any woman can manage with a little ingenuity. Forget the pipe-and-slippers cliché; instead, try these up-to-date, easy-care methods of making his life a bed of roses.

Serve his favorite foods frequently. Almost as often, tell him he looks handsome, and don't worry — he'll believe you.

Diet if and when you must — but see if you can do it without talking about it (well, almost without talking about it).

Dress for him even when you're not going out. When he comes home at night, he should find you looking at least as good as you would if you were meeting the girls downtown for lunch.

Don't wear curlers and cold cream to bed. Surprise him by giving your bedroom a fresh, new "redecorated" look with colored or patterned sheets and blankets to match.

One way you should never surprise him is by springing a last-minute bridge or dinner engagement on him. Ten to one you'll pick the very evening he wants to fall asleep in front of the TV set. Consult him on all social commitments.

Feed His Ego
Build him up in front of his friends and yours. Feed him opening lines so he can show off his special knowledge, let him tell jokes unmolesated, and when it's your turn to tell the funny stories, say nothing that could make him look small.

Learn to make a perfect cup of coffee. Some tips: never use already boiled water; occasionally run the percolator through a water-only cycle to "sweeten" the coffee pot. The best coffee brands contain a high percentage of Colombian coffee. Use at least a tablespoon of coffee per cup; most Americans make their coffee too weak, according to coffee experts.

Wallpaper on the other walls has where I have an off-white metal table and matching chairs with blue seats. I'd also like new counter tops in a color different from the present dark blue, and to repaint two dull yellow walls, sink, and the other on the wall a blue, yellow and green pattern on a brick background, which is white with gray outline. Cabinets are dark and the floor is off-white with random blue squares.

Additional colors won't improve the room as wide use of the blue will, if it's in a pale shade. Match the shutters to the dark wood finish of the cabinets, and add pale blue short-cake style curtains. Match the walls to the curtains and make the counter tops pale blue and white, in a mottled, flecked or otherwise indefinite pattern. This plan will unify the room and make it seem larger, but brighten it with bright green accents — display bright green glass, pottery or other objects.

Mrs. H. G. H.: "Will a cotton rug help to quiet my elderly mother's room as much as a wool rug would? What about the synthetic fibers?"

Tests show that the denser and deeper rug pile is, the more it is able to absorb sound. The type of fiber and the structure of the pile makes little difference.

Mrs. J. T.: "Will you please help me decide on changes for my kitchen? I'd like something new on the windows, perhaps shut-

Keep Poppy Seeds From Sinking

When poppy seeds sink to the bottom of the cake they may have picked up moisture. Usually if they are dry and are folded into a well mixed cake they won't sink.

Be sure that the shortening and sugar are thoroughly creamed and the other ingredients are mixed in as the recipe directs. Fold the poppy seeds in gently at the very end. Be sure that the oven is at the proper temperature before putting the cake in the oven.

Tight Cover
That stew will benefit if you cook it in a tightly covered kettle. If the cover doesn't fit tightly, improvise by using a piece of foil under it.

Needle Work

The proper pressing of a dart: For the proper pressing of a dart: A frequent mistake is to press in the wrong direction. When a dart runs up and down the body press it toward the center of the figure. In other words, front darts are pressed toward the center front, and back darts are pressed toward the center back. Darts that run crosswise, as underarm bust darts, are pressed down toward the waistline or bottom of the garment. (See bodice and skirt illustration.)

Avoid Pleat
The next problem is how to avoid a pleat or crease on the right side of the dart. First, to flatten the stitching line and crease the fold, press the dart flat lightly as it is stitched. Do not press past the point of the dart. Now place the dart on a sleeve board or tailor's cushion and press lightly, stretching the fabric crosswise as you press. Check the dart on the right side to be sure that it was spread properly and that no pleat or crease marks were made. If you pressed too hard on the iron, the dart may have left an imprint. If so, press under the dart to remove the imprint.

If your fabric is thick it will be necessary to slash the dart and press it open.

Make a crosswise slash about one inch above the point. Cut the edges apart to the slash and trim the wider part of the dart to regular seam width. Press the edges open as you would a seam and either turn the point to one side or press it into a tiny box pleat.

Dining-Game Table

Top ten ratings of most useful furniture now include a certain table that was seldom seen a few years ago. The name dining-game table doesn't cover the responsibilities it shares with matching chairs. Although the set-up is busy enough with meal and snack serving, and today's stepped-up game playing, it's also a relaxed, elbow-resting conversation center at any time, and a great convenience for spreading out desk work, hobbies and projects.

A small home fits the furniture comfortably into the living-dining room. When the table is low, as it usually is, it has a surprise effect — the chair seats level with lounge chair seats, and this uniformity is smoothly room-enlarging. The chairs also pull up compatibly to a sofa grouping. A larger home needs the many-purpose furniture for the family room or game room, where its newest change-of-pace styling is especially effective. Spring showings include the sketched, Spanish-influenced example, which has a weathered wood finish, and chairs which locate legs in off-beat position to slide snugly under the octagonal table top.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

TO PLEASE LITTLE GIRL

Dear Louise: My sister was left a widow this past year and has a six-year-old daughter. She is in need of many things. The little girl's birthday will be next month. I had planned to give her box springs and a mattress which are badly needed, but a friend claims that such a gift wouldn't be suitable. What is your opinion?

The box springs and mattress wouldn't give the little girl the "birthday pleasure that an inexpensive toy would give. Why not give her the bed equipment to your sister?

WANTS TOO MUCH

Dear Louise: My sister is a widow and for the past three years has been living with a man whom she expects to marry next month. She wants to have a large reception after the ceremony and she has also asked me to give a shower for her. I said it is all wrong but she doesn't agree. How does one handle a situation like this?

Your sister is wrong on all counts. She would use discretion if she is married only in the presence of the two legal witnesses. Let us hope that she will pass up the idea of any kind of a reception and that no marriage announcement be issued. It is bad taste to request anyone to give her a shower and being a sister, it is equally bad taste for you to give one. You would be facing the embarrassment of obligating friends for gifts and you might be bringing to light or reminding friends of an unconventional situation. As a sister, you can easily and tactfully say no. At the same time, perhaps you can convince your sister to pass up a reception as well as her desire for showers.

America Faces School Dropout Problem: What to Do About It

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

High on the list of serious social and economic problems which America faces today is that of students dropping out of school. By 1970 only five per cent of available jobs will be of the unskilled variety. And yet, educators predict that 7.5 million American boys and girls will leave school prematurely between 1960 and 1970, without a skill to call their own.

And a large number of high school graduates might almost as well be dropouts because not more than one-fourth of the boy graduates have a saleable skill. By training students for further learning in college and technical schools, high schools do meet the needs of the majority of their graduates. But schools also have a responsibility to other students. Some 50 per cent of the dropouts give lack of interest as their reason for leaving school. So the solution lies in getting each student interested in his own development.

Typical Case

Here's a case that gives us insight into the whole problem: Roy left school in the middle of the 11th grade. Tests showed he was on the sixth grade level in reading, on the fifth grade level in math, and that his handwriting was still childish. Roy actually was encouraged by authorities to drop out because of his refusal to do school assignments and his erratic attendance. There he was — belligerent at school, defiant at home, untrained and unemployable.

Jobs Depend on Skills

Then a friend of the family interviewed Roy for a job in his print shop. He pointed out that to get type, Roy would need basic knowledge and skills. Roy needed a working knowledge of English grammar and speech, so he would have to do better in reading, writing and spelling. While waiting on customers, he would need to improve his speaking ability and attend to his personal appearance.

Even as a stock boy, Roy learned, he would have to know more about arithmetic. Roy got his chance, purely because of family friendship. But as a condition of employment, he had to accept tutoring in reading, writing and arithmetic. He made rapid gains in each and improved his personal appearance as he gained successes.

A year later Roy started taking evening classes, and this time received special help. Although Roy has now graduated from high school, it was a struggle. Things would have been much easier if he had been recognized early as a potential dropout.

One Successful Plan

To cope sooner with such problems, at least one city, Cleveland, has established special transition classes for students who are entering junior high school and who are deemed likely to become dropouts. These pupils do all their work in one room. Reading is emphasized including newspaper reading. The initial results are promising.

While most dropouts do not continue until senior high school when students pass the age of compulsory school attendance, lack of interest in school before then sets the stage.

Since earning a living in our technical society depends on the individual's ability to learn and his development of skills, schools and parents must awaken students to the necessity of staying in school until they have gained these skills.

Area High Schools Have Same Records In Debate Finals

The Appleton, Kaukauna and Neenah high school debate teams had identical records of two wins and six losses in the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association finals in Madison Friday and Saturday.

First place went to McDonnell High School, Chippewa Falls, which had an 8-0 record. Sheboygan South High School took second place with a 7-1 record. Racine St. Catherine West Bend and Janesville teams tied for third with 6-2 records.

The teams, successive winners in district and sectional contests throughout the state, discussed the proposition: "Resolved That the United States should adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with non-Communist nations."

Fascimile Ballot Notice of Justice of the Supreme Court PRIMARY ELECTION

March 5, 1963

State of Wisconsin

SS

Office of County Clerk

To the Electors of Outagamie County:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts in the County of Outagamie on the 5th day of March, 1963, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballot below.

Information to Voters

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters.

A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking his ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

At a nonpartisan primary election, the voter shall place a cross or other mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of any other candidate.

The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is visually handicapped, he may have anyone assist him in marking his ballot or operating a voting machine. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

Accountant Answers Questions About Filing State Returns

BY NORMAN E. SCHLEY, C.P.A.

Q. Last year my company sent me to another state to supervise a job I worked out of the state during the entire year returning home occasionally to see the family. Must I file a Wisconsin return for 1962?

A. Yes, since Wisconsin is your domicile and you resided elsewhere temporarily you must file a return.

Q. I am an unmarried student at the University and I did work part time earning $712. Will I be required to file a return?

A. Yes, all single persons with a gross income of $600 or more will file returns.

Q. During the past year I have been ill and we have been forced to live on my wife's part time earnings which included $750 as a receptionist at the local hospital and part time typing at home of $640. Must we file?

A. Yes, a married person with a gross income of $600 or more is required to file Wisconsin income tax returns.

Part Time Nurse

Q. I am married but earned less than $600 during 1962 as a part time nurse. Must I file the Wisconsin income tax return?

A. If the net income of you and your husband exceeded $1,400 it will be necessary that you file a return.

Q. I am retired have no income and live with my son. This year I received a set of Wisconsin income tax blanks. Must I file them?

A. No, unless you are requested by the department of taxation to file a return you need not fill in the returns. Mailing of a return does not constitute a request to file.

Q. My husband and I moved to Wisconsin from another state in December of 1962. His only paycheck from his new Wisconsin employer was $320 after deduction of Wisconsin withholding tax of about $10. Must we file?

A. Yes, you will file a Wisconsin return under a rule which requires you as a new resident to file if you received any income subject to Wisconsin taxation.

Q. I left Wisconsin where I earned only $410 during the year 1962. My former landlord forwaded my State of Wisconsin blanks to me. Must I file since my income is less than $600?

A. Even though you now reside in another state you must file a Wisconsin return since you did enjoy income in 1962 subject to Wisconsin taxation. The form No. 1-N should be used.

Q. Several years ago I moved from Wisconsin to another state. During 1962 I did some part time work for a Wisconsin firm and they deducted Wisconsin withholding tax. Must I file a return even though I have not lived in Wisconsin for over two years?

A. Yes, non residents who enjoy income for personal services performed for Wisconsin employers must file Wisconsin income tax returns. Under certain circumstances you may be entitled to a refund. Use form No. 1-N.

Homemade Umbrella Stand Can be Made From Drain Pipe

BY CAPPY DICK

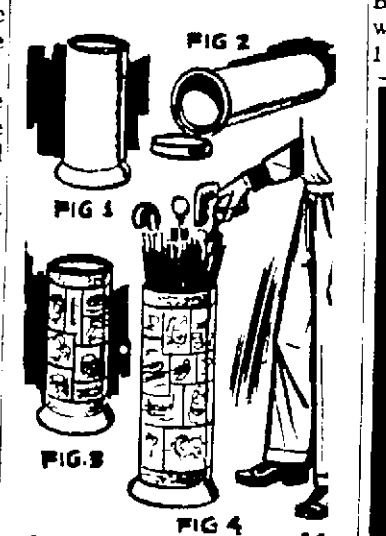

The result of today's fun project for boys and girls should make a hit with Mother and Dad because they can make good use of it. It is an umbrella stand.

To make one you first will have to find a discarded section of tile drain pipe or buy a suitable piece from a building supplies dealer.

The pipe has a flange at one end (Figure 1). This will become the base of the umbrella stand as in Figure 4. With a jig-saw cut a circular disc of wood that will fit inside the pipe as the bottom (Figure 1). China cement will hold it in place. Felt glued to the bottom of the flange will prevent the stand from marring the floor.

The next step is to decorate the stand (Figure 3). With china cement attach two bands of small colored stones, glass beads or glass "gems" which can be bought at a variety store. Glue one band near the top of the stand and the other at the bot tom. Make them two inches wide. Between the two bands glue an assortment of pictures cut from magazines. Pictures printed in bright colors will be better than those that are only black and white. These may be pictures of animals, outdoor scenes, movie and TV stars, sports stars, etc. When the pictures have been smoothly attached, give them a coat of shellac.

FVL Students Prepare for State Basketball Tournament

What goes into staging a successful high school basketball tournament?

Students of Fox Valley Lutheran High School who are helping to prepare for the upcoming State Lutheran high school tournament know that the answer to this question is hard work.

Many FVL clubs and organizations will assist the athletic department during the Wisconsin Lutheran Invitational High School Basketball Tournament, which will be held at FVL on March 1 and 2.

The school's Lettermen's Club has set up committees to supervise the printing of the tickets, publication of the tournament program, housing of the visiting teams, selection of student guides and obtaining of bleachers for use on the south side of the gym.

Monogram winners heading committees are Jon Plamann, tickets, Bob Krueger, housing, Jerry Schuette, locker-room and student guides, Bill Thorn, bleachers and plant, and Henry Simon, program.

Pep Club members will sell hot dogs and hamburgers at the games, and the proceeds will go into their treasury. Officers are Jeanne Albers, president, Janet Albers, treasury, and Jane Panikow, secretary.

Several cheerleaders from the club have volunteered to make large pennants for each school to be hung in the gym. The cheerleaders also will make a sign welcoming the visitors.

Service Club ushers, usherettes, and ticket sellers will be on duty during the tournament. Wayne Volkman will head the ushers, Kathy Kehl will be in charge of usherettes, and Judy Forbeck will supervise the ticket sellers.

There will be five sessions of two games each in the eight-team tournament.

Should Junior be Paddled?

Washington Educator Seeks Spanking Power

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Should junior be paddled when he becomes unruly at school?

Educators over the nation have varying opinions, but generally they don't consider it as vital an issue as the superintendent of schools in Washington does.

Supt. Carl F. Hanson has asked permission of the District of Columbia Board of Education to spank young troublemakers. Hanson said immunity from paddling encourages insolence on the part of some children.

William C. Hinkley, superintendent of Aurora, Colo., schools, said that while there is no state law restricting corporal punishment, "We certainly do not recommend this (corporal punishment) as a means of discipline—certainly not in many cases."

The New York State education commissioner, Dr. James E. Allen Jr., said, "The exercise of corporal punishment is authorized in New York state. Local school boards have the power to prohibit it in their districts, however. It boils down to a question of what is reasonable."

In New York City, the spanking of pupils by teachers is not permitted.

California Law
Irving Breyer, attorney for the San Francisco Board of Education, said California law permits corporal punishment, administered only by a principal or his assistant. Use of the practice is left to the discretion of each school board.

A Montana statute says teachers may administer corporal punishment if it is witnessed by another teacher or principal, but not with undue anger or without notifying the parents.

John W. Letson, Atlanta, Ga., school superintendent, said

"We do not officially have authority for corporal punishment. We have what I consider complete leeway to maintain order. Certainly we don't feel we have any serious problem."

"Corporal punishment can be justified only as a last resort. Dr. Owen B. Kernan, Massachusetts commissioner of education said, "The teacher oftentimes must act in place of the parents. The test of corporal punishment is whether it is reasonable and moderate."

Escapes County Jail at Racine

RACINE (AP)—Melvin Glover, 33, escaped from the Racine County jail early Sunday, apparently by using a set of keys that unlocked the doors of his cell and other rooms.

Authorities said they were unable to determine how Glover got the keys. They said he got out of his cell and then scooped up from the jailer's desk envelopes containing personal effects and money of fellow inmates.

The escape was made when the jailer Edward Heckel left his office on the ninth floor of the county building to pick up inmate work schedules. The cells are on the ninth floor.

Glover is believed to have fled down the fire escape to the basement after unlocking three doors. Glover, formerly of Chicago, had been held on burglary and confidence game charges.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results—here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids—without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Five Injured As Toboggans Come Together

Girl Unconscious After Accident on Fox Valley Course

COMBINED LOCKS—Five persons were injured and three remain hospitalized following a collision of two toboggans at the Fox Valley Golf Club about 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The injured were taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by Larry's Ambulance and Combined Locks police.

Most seriously injured is Cheryl Tennessee, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tennessee, 1408 Main Ave., Kaukauna. She received a severe skull injury and is still unconscious.

Two injured
A sister, Fay, 9, has a possible fracture of the right ankle. A third youngster on the toboggan was Mary Otte, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert C. Otte, 408 E. 14th St., Kaukauna. She has a contusion to the face and is hospitalized.

Treated and released were two passengers on the second toboggan, Beverly Hennes, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hennes, 216 E. 14th St., Kaukauna, who received a bump on her face and Mrs. William Mitchell, 405 W. 17th St., Kaukauna, who received a bump on the forehead.

Not injured were Mrs. Mitchell's husband and son, also passengers on the second toboggan.

The two toboggans came down opposite hills and collided near the bottom of the hills. According to Combined Locks police, the Mitchell toboggan was almost stopped when the other toboggan ran into it. Police administered first aid at the scene of the accident.

County Has Shelter for One-Third of Population

CD Director List Places in Outagamie

Public fallout shelter space exists today for 37,188 people in Outagamie County, or approximately 33 per cent of the county population.

In Appleton, shelter space is available for 21,425 or about 42 per cent of the city's estimated 51,000 population.

Lee Penney, city county Civil Defense director, said today that two programs requested of Congress by the Defense Department's Office of Civil Defense would provide the balance of the shelter area to provide for the county's remaining 106,000 residents.

In addition to the 21,425 approved public fallout shelter space in Appleton, Kaukauna has 6,075 Combined Locks, 4,869 Kimberly, 4,443 Little Chute, 417, Bear Creek, 95 and Black Creek, 64.

Five Steps
According to Penney, five steps make up the over-all city-county shelter program. They are:

1. A survey of all public and private buildings. 2. Licensing, construction and stocking of approved shelters. 3. Financing modifications of areas that did not qualify. 4. A Shelter Incentive Program. 5. Shelters in federal buildings.

The first phase of the survey has been completed and the second phase is near completion.

The survey was for determining what public and private buildings had a protection factor (PF) of 50 or better.

A protection factor is the relation between the amount of radiation from fallout that would be received by a protected person within a shelter compared to an unprotected person outside a shelter. A person inside a shelter with a protection factor of 100 would receive 100 times less radiation than an unprotected person outside the shelter.

Need Program
The survey also determined the amount of space that would qualify for approved shelters at a cost of less than $25 per space.

An updating of this program will begin in the fall.

The second phase of licensing, work and stocking is practically complete except for the stocking of the approved shelters completely by the end of May. This includes food, medical supplies, sanitation equipment, water and radiation detection equipment.

The two programs requested of Congress by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara makes up the possible third and phases of the federal shelter program for Appleton and Outagamie County.

The third phase would be financing of these areas that did not.

Cyril J. Wassenberg, 71, of 153 W. Foster St., a Fourth Ward alderman in the early 1930s, died Sunday after a short illness.

Wassenberg was born July 28, 1891, in Menasha and lived in Appleton most of his life. He was employed at the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co. for 43 years before his retirement in 1934.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, two sons, four brothers, two sisters and 20 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Mary Cemetery, Menasha.

Appleton Churches to Start Lent With Special Services

Protestants Will Conduct Communion

Christians will begin observance of the penitential season of Lent this week on Ash Wednesday. Special services are being planned for the 40-day Lenten season in many Appleton churches.

Lenten services will be held at Zion Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday and 7 p.m. on Thursday. Holy communion will be celebrated following the Ash Wednesday and Thursday services.

Registrations for the communion services will be received today at the church office.

The Rev. W. H. Gammelin, Zion pastor, will deliver a series of Lenten meditations based on the general theme, "The Passion of Christ Proclaimed in Song." The meditations will be based on favorite Lenten hymns.

On the first Friday in Lent, Christians throughout the world gather for the World Day of Prayer, with special services of prayer and meditation. The service for the American Lutheran Church congregations of Appleton will be held at Zion Lutheran Church at 2 p.m. Friday.

The Rev. V. Keszler of Grace Lutheran Church, Larsen, will be the guest speaker. A fellowship period will follow the service.

Good Shepherd Lutheran Church will conduct a special Ash Wednesday service at 7 p.m. Wednesday. In addition to the singing of Lenten hymns and object lessons for the children, the Rev. H. P. Hilgendorf, pastor, will preach on the topic "Facing the Enemy." The Lord's Supper will be celebrated at this service.

Plan Service
Bethany Lutheran Church will have midweek Lenten services at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday. The general theme of the Lenten season sermons will be "The Cross, a Symbol of Sin and Grace." The sermon theme for Ash Wednesday will be "The Cross, a Symbol of Grace." The Rev. Lyle Koelmig is pastor.

St. Paul Lutheran Church will have a Lenten service at 7:30 p.m. on Ash Wednesday. The sermon theme will be "Jesus Looks Upon Peter." The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer is pastor.

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church will have a holy communion service at 7 p.m. on Ash Wednesday. The sermon theme will be "And When You Fast." The Rev. Charles W. Briggs is pastor.

St. Paul Lutheran Church will have its first midweek Lenten service at 7:30 p.m. on Ash Wednesday. The sermon theme will be "Jesus Looks Upon Peter." The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer is pastor.

Engineers' Unit Plans Meeting in Menasha Hotel

The Northeastern Wisconsin Chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers will hold its monthly dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Menasha hotel.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Lowell J. Moeller, national vice president of AIIE, who will discuss "Another Side of Industrial Engineering." He will also install the newly-elected 1963 officers at the meeting.

Moeller is superintendent of manufacturing engineering with Eastern Electric in Indianapolis, Ind. He is also active in the American Society for Engineering Education, American Society for Metals and Society of American Military Engineers.

Persons wishing to attend may contact Thomas Widener, Neenah, or Herb Grodemange, Green Bay.

Tank Truck Skids, Rolls

Part of Huge Oil Cargo Spills Onto Highway at Chilton

CHILTON — A semi-tanker truck carrying more than 5,000 gallons of oil, was demolished when it rolled three times after going out of control on State 57 about four miles north of here at 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

The driver, Howard J. Schultz, 26, Wausau, told Calumet County police the truck's windshield was covered with steam and water when the radiator hose burst. The northbound truck crossed the highway, traveled about 550 feet on the left shoulder before skidding broadside and rolling for 120 feet.

The wreckage partially blocked the highway's west lane but traffic was light when the scene was being cleared, police said. Schultz escaped with bruises on both legs. Only a small quantity of the cargo escaped but a county highway department crew was called to spread sand on an oil-covered portion of the highway.

Appleton Doctor To Check Hebard

Psychiatrists Named to Conduct Mental Examination of Slayer

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Two psychiatrists were named today by Judge James W. Byers to examine Harry R. (Butch) Hebard, 16, to determine whether he is mentally competent to stand trial in the shooting deaths of five members of his family.

They are Dr. Denton O. Engstrom, Appleton, and Dr. Edward E. Houfek, Sheboygan.

The judge said he would set no time limit for filing written reports by the doctors on the mental condition of Harry, who has admitted the shooting deaths of his father, Jack, 37, his stepmother, Joyce, 33, his stepbrother, John, 15, and his twin sisters, Judy and Janet, 11.

The young man, who is being held without bail in the Brown County jail on four first degree murder counts, has expressed some remorse over his father's death, according to Dist. Atty. Robert W. Warren. No single specific cause was listed by the boy for his action, other than a feeling that he was left out of the family circle.

In Appleton Thursday, Hebard, a junior at West High School, will be taken from jail under guard for consultation and interviews with the court-appointed psychiatrists.

Hebard will be taken to Appleton Thursday afternoon for a consultation with Dr. Engstrom and to Sheboygan next Monday for an examination by Dr. Houfek.

Catholics to Distribute Sacred Ashes

Appleton Catholic churches will begin the observance of Lent with the distribution of ashes on Ash Wednesday as a symbol of penance and have set special mass schedules and Lenten services.

Noon mass will be said daily at St. Mary Church and late afternoon weekday masses are scheduled at 5:05 p.m. at St. Joseph Church and 5:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church.

The ashes, burnt palms from Palm Sunday services last spring, are blessed on Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. The priest distributes them by dipping his thumb in the ashes and marking a cross on the foreheads of Catholics, while saying the words, "Remember man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

Ashes are a traditional symbol of penance.

Give Ashes
Ashes will be distributed at St. Mary Catholic Church after all masses on Wednesday, and after the 7:40 p.m. Mother of Perpetual Help devotion at about 8 p.m. Daily masses on Ash Wednesday and on weekdays throughout Lent will be at 6:30 and 8 a.m. and 12:05 p.m. A 6:30 p.m. mass is scheduled for this Friday, which is the first Friday of March. Stations of the Cross will be held at 2:40 p.m. on Fridays, at 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays followed by Benediction, and at 2 p.m. on Sundays.

At St. Joseph Catholic Church, ashes will be distributed after all masses.

One Injured In Pair of Accidents

One person was hospitalized and two others received minor injuries in two separate accidents on Appleton streets Sunday.

Confined in Appleton Memorial Hospital is Mrs. Hubert Eick, 39, 1631 F. Byrd St. She was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service when the car in which she was riding collided with another car at Wisconsin Avenue and Drew Street about 9 a.m.

The accident occurred when the car being driven west on Wisconsin Avenue by Edward F. Bolte, 29, route 1, Kaukauna, collided with a car being driven south on Drew Street by Mrs. Eick's husband. Eick was treated for injuries and was released. Bolte was uninjured.

Mrs. Margaret L. Franks, 84, E. Atlantic St., received a cut on her nose when the car she was driving in the 800 block of E. Atlantic Street collided with a parked car about 7 p.m. Sunday.

The parked car is owned by William K. Miller, 1630 W. Spring St. Mrs. Franks was not taken to a hospital for her injury.

Three youths were injured slightly Saturday night when the car they were in went off the road at County Trunk 00 and U.S. 41. Injured when the car struck a guard rail was Donald E. Janssen, 19, 1006 LaFollette St., Little Chute driver of the car and Karlen Meulman, 18, route 1, Seymour, and Colleen Dalar, 18, 313½ E. College Ave. The youths received bumps and cuts and were not hospitalized.

Gov. Reynolds Praises His Tax Program

'Everybody Will be For It,' He Says at News Conference

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Gov. Reynolds declared today that his new tax program for the state government will be so attractive that everybody will be for it.

The governor did not say at a news conference when he will offer it to the critical Republican legislature or what it will contain.

It is expected to call for a round of increases in personal income taxes as well as a massive redistribution of present local government shares of state administration.

Ignored Criticism
The governor seemed cheerful about the prospects for his bill and said good progress is being made by the state tax department in working it out. He ignored the heckling from the Republican legislature about his delays in presenting a revenue program to cover his record high recommendation for expenditures.

In other developments the governor indicated that he will probably reappoint Gilbert Rohde, president of the Wisconsin Farmers' Union to the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents. Rohde sits as a regent through appointment of former Gov. Gaylord Nelson but has not yet been confirmed by the senate.

Disclosed that if there had been an interruption in electric service in Milwaukee and other districts through the strike of the Electric Company employees last week he would have taken action to protect the health and welfare of the public. The strike is apparently headed for settlement with a vote on a new employment contract scheduled for today.

Science Fair Winners Listed

Gallery of Arts Area Artists Turn to Crafts for Expression

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The face of the Fox Cities art world as reflected in the Appleton Gallery of Arts' third annual mid-winter exhibit at Castle Hall this week seems to be turning away from the graphics arts in favor of the crafts.

Nearly a third of the exhibitors have directed their efforts away from the palette and brush. The extraordinary exhibit of pottery by guest exhibitor Al Bennett of the Appleton school system enhances this feeling of change. "Not only do the craft exhibits provide variety to the show, they represent the bulk of the quality of the show. In addition they demonstrate a direction in which some of the area's artists are reaching out in their attempt to plumb the possibilities of expression."

Perhaps typical of this latter is the work of Robert Baeten, a painter. In this show Baeten displays a commendable first attempt at woodblock printing and three fine pieces of sculpture.

Dorothy Christen brings the finest sense of humor to the show in three unusual collages, or as she calls them "felt and burlap plaques." Her "All Aboard, Noah's Ark" is the most successful of the three. She mounts pieces of fabric and sequins on burlap. Her Ark plaque has the additional charm of wearing real or simulated fur on the animals.

The Gallery's own pottery exhibit is mounted by Mrs. Lillian Embrey and Mrs. Marguerite Russell, a collection of good looking, useful pieces.

Fred Kaemmerer, the exhibit chairman, must share a bow with the artists for his part in the new look of the show. His arrangement of the display opens the restricted, temporary gallery to its maximum use.

Sunday's opening reception drew the greatest response in the mid-winter's history. The gallery will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. each day of this week, and will close at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Stock Market Trading Active

Dow Jones Average
Off 3.85 at Noon,
Now Reads 677.79

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted irregularly lower early this afternoon in moderate, but active trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 3.85 points from 681.64 at the close of the previous session. Key stocks lost fractions to a point. Scattered stocks bucked the downtrend with gains of fractions to a point.

President Kennedy's warning of another recession if Congress does not cut taxes seemed to have little effect, as this idea has been expressed repeatedly.

U.S. Smelting rebounded 4 points from a drop of 6 points Thursday and 11½ Wednesday. U.S. Steel was off about a point. Other leading steelmakers lost fractions.

Chrysler was down nearly a point. Ford and General Motors were steady. American Motors and Studebaker were about unchanged.

North American Aviation was steady. Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, and General Dynamics leaned to the upside.

Du Pont and General Electric took losses exceeding a point. Jersey Standard and ATT were fractional losers.

Liggett & Myers picked up a point. Fractional gains were scored by Texaco, Royal Dutch, Chesapeake, Ohio and International Telephone.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.85 at 677.79. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds showed no trend.

Traffic Study Not Started In Menasha

Council Had Asked
For Move 2 Months Ago, Chief Says

MENASHA — Police Chief Lester Clark this morning revealed that a study of proposed changes in the City of Menasha traffic pattern has failed to get underway although it was ordered by the common council two months ago.

Chief Clark said that Third Ward Ald. Morgan L. Eckrich, chairman of the police, fire and traffic safety committee, study group for the project, has not called a meeting of committeemen to study recommendations since it was ordered by council early in January.

Chief Clark said he has not been contacted at all by Eckrich concerning the recommendations to change the traffic pattern.

MBS Approves
However, he said he talked to Third Ward Ald. William Erickson, who set up a meeting last Tuesday with the Menasha Businessmen's Association. Chief Clark explained plans and needs to the businessmen, who indicated their approval of his recommendations.

Kind this morning said he heard from another alderman that Eckrich has called a meeting of the committee for tonight. Chief Clark said he has heard nothing about a meeting. He said he usually receives a written notice of any meetings scheduled.

The chief, at a meeting of council early in January, recommended changes in the traffic pattern which would make two streets one-way and eliminate approximately 13 stop signs.

At the time, he said the changes were suggested in an attempt to provide Menasha with a secondary north-bound route by-passing the Third and Racine Street intersection, and to help relieve congestion at Broad and Third Streets.

The chief recommended: One way on Broad Street east from Milwaukee to DePere Street. One way on First Street west from DePere to Milwaukee.

He said that stop signs would be removed to allow a free flow of traffic on the streets.

Chief Clark's recommendations approximately parallel studies and recommendations made by Kenneth Shellie and associates, and the American Automobile Association.

Point. Fractional gains were scored by Texaco, Royal Dutch, Chesapeake, Ohio and International Telephone.

Armory Dedication U.S. Must be Ready to Meet Force With Force

OSHKOSH — Meeting force to meet the Communist forces with force, determination with determination and dedication with dedication would be needed. That is why dedication was stressed by Major Gen. Herbert A. Smith, 32nd Red Arrow Division commanding general, in his talk dedicating the new National Guard Armory here Sunday afternoon.

"The Communists have a dedication, and while we have more to be dedicated for, we are more placid and smug," he told the approximately 1,000 persons at the armory dedication.

"Just as our Allies held the line during World War II while we were getting prepared, they now look to us to hold the line while they get prepared," Gen. Smith pointed out.

He cited the United States cannot hope to maintain an active full-time military establishment "When the 32nd Division was isportant. "These two ideologies cannot continue to co-exist indefinitely, the division commander declared. "Communists are like a fighter in a ring who continues to jab here and there until he finds an unguarded spot," then unleashing his knockout punch.

This is why we must meet force with force, determination with determination and dedication with dedication. This is why, Gen. Smith stressed, having units such as the National Guard is so important.

Charge Vote Steal Democrats Censure 3 GOP Assemblymen

OSHKOSH — The executive committee of the Winnebago County Democratic Party Saturday night criticized Assemblymen David O. Martin of Neenah, William Steiger, Oshkosh and Floyd E. Shurbert, Town of Algoma, for their vote to unseat Earl Ellers.

called up, it was selected because it was considered the best and most ready National Guard division in the United States. It had trained faster and better than any.

"In four months, which includes its moving to camp and its two-week Christmas leave, it was considered to be combat deployable. Never had this been approached before and this is a tribute to its training."

The general cited that many of the guard personnel had decided not to reenlist after the division's return, some at the request of their wives and employers.

"The More than Share," "If we lose out to Communism, there will be little satisfaction in being able to point to a neighbor and say, 'If you had done more, this wouldn't have happened.' We must each do more than our share."

"If you are a wife who urged your husband to leave the Guard so as to spend more time with the children, you will not have those children to raise if the Communists take over."

"If you are an employer who urged an employee to leave the Guard because you want all of his service, you will not need that service under Communism," Gen. Smith warned.

Cannot Deny Threat
He contended that while there are differences of opinion as to whether the call-up of the 32nd Division was good or bad, "we must all agree that never before has our way of life been threatened so much by the Communist threat today. We cannot deny that this threat exists."

These two ideologies cannot continue to co-exist indefinitely, the division commander declared. "Communists are like a fighter in a ring who continues to jab here and there until he finds an unguarded spot," then unleashing his knockout punch.

This is why we must meet force with force, determination with determination and dedication with dedication. This is why, Gen. Smith stressed, having units such as the National Guard is so important.

Entry to both homes was gained by breaking a small window and releasing a inside latch. The burglaries were discovered about 9:10 p.m. Sunday.

OSC Plans Class for Teachers of Retarded
MADISON — Because school administrators in the Fox River Valley have found it difficult to recruit qualified teachers for their special classes, Wisconsin State College at Oshkosh will offer work leading to the certification of teachers of mentally retarded.

The board of regents of the state college system, authorizing the curriculum expansion, said the work would be offered during the summer sessions during the next few years, but that it is expected to be developed into a full-scale major.

Hortonville Man Faces Conduct Charge in Court

A 21-year-old Hortonville man, Sherman Ogden, who scuffled with County Patrolman Orville Crane and patrons of a Hortonville bowling alley Sunday night, was charged today with disorderly conduct. He was to appear this afternoon in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Crane went to the Ed Ashauer tavern in Hortonville on a complaint that a man was disturbing other patrons in the tavern. When Crane arrived, the patron was gone but he had left his wallet behind.

Crane said the man had thrown off his jacket after he left the tavern and it was found about 100 feet from the tavern.

The man's car was found at his home, and Ogden was located at a bowling alley where he was taken into custody. Crane said will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. each day of this week, and will close at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Detectives Give Drunken Hitchhiker Free Ride to Jail

A squad car of Appleton detectives stopped momentarily in an investigation Sunday night to offer an Appleton woman, Miss Beverly J. Kappell, 27, 2409 N. Bennett St. a ride in their car.

Miss Kappell was seen by the detectives hitch-hiking on W. College Avenue about 1:30 a.m. today. She was taken to the Appleton police station where she was charged with public intoxication.

Miss Kappell pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $35. She appeared this morning in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Bad for you and bad for your country. Arnold Toynbee, world famous historian, says that it is the toleration of minority beliefs that has made the Western world what it is. It was the army units that gripped who had the best military records during the war. In peacetime, it is the alert outspoken citizen who contributes most to the progress of the nation. If it's worth growing about, it's worth speaking up about—so others can hear you and either join in your concern or argue it through with you. Do the poor always resent the rich?

Yes—No. For many centuries, the poor regarded poverty as their lot. Resentment comes when people regard themselves as having been deprived of what is justly theirs. Thus, when the expansion of sheep raising in the seventeenth century drove thousands of farmers off their land, these dispossessed joined the armies of Cromwell and helped drive Germany and Italy it was those who had lost what they once had that were the backbone of the Nazi and Fascist movements. ## What a TV Set Cost 25 Years Ago

If someone complains that a television set costs more today than it did 25 years ago, you'd lift an eyebrow. A quarter-century back, there were no television sets to be had—at any price. The same logic applies to the statement that "prescriptions cost more today than they used to cost." The drugs you now get didn't even exist until recent years. So the benefits these drugs bring... the rapid cures, the lives saved... could not be bought at any price. That's why we say... Your prescription today is the biggest bargain in history.

Oshkosh Favored Over Kaukauna in Regional Opener

Battle Tuesday for Spot
In Friday's Semi-Finals

A highly-improved Oshkosh High School basketball team will meet underdog Kaukauna in the Menasha regional basketball tournament opener at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The last time the teams clashed in tournament action was in 1960 on the same court when the indians edged the Jerry Hopfensperger-coached Ghosts in the regional finals.

The 1962-63 Indians, after a disappointing Fox River Valley Conference start, closed fast for a co-fourth place finish and a 9-9 regular-season record.

Kaukauna's Ghosts, with a 3-14 over-all record, may be forced to play without Tom Hiestand, their all-Mid-Eastern conference sharpshooter. Hiestand missed last Friday's game because of the mumps and his status for Tuesday night is "doubtful."

Ticket Allotments
Each of the five schools in the tournament are selling an allotment of tickets. Season tickets (for Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights) are $2.75.

If Kaukauna wins Tuesday, it will meet Menasha in Friday night's semi-finals. If Oshkosh wins, it will duel Appleton Friday night (with Neenah meeting Menasha).

Friday's games are scheduled for 7 p.m. and 8:30. Saturday's title game is set for 7:30.

The probable starting lineup for Kaukauna Tuesday consists of Gary Weigman and Steve Hilgenberg, forwards; Dick Promer or Jim Brown, center; and Mike Andrews and Dave Lamers or Hiestand at guard.

Howie Jansen, the No. 6 man, is out with a broken foot bone. Bob Van Ellen, who had been the regular center, was dropped from the squad.

The Ghosts beat New London twice in the conference play and topped Sheboygan North in non-league action.

Oshkosh is led by Tom Stroede, FRVC scoring champion, and Roger Beck, who has been among the league's top three in points most of the season. Starting with this duo probably will be Greg Wood, Jeff Guiz and Dave Reamer.

In non-league play, Oshkosh defeated Kimberly (by one point), West Bend and Stevens Point—losing only to Madison East.

Edgewood '5' Will Defend Its Title

Meets Milwaukee Pius in First State Tourney Start

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Defending champion Madison Edgewood, holder of a 21-1 record this season, will defend its crown in the 34th annual State Catholic high school basketball tournament which begins at the Milwaukee Arena Friday, taking on Milwaukee Pius, holder of a 19-2 record in a night game.

Other teams which qualified for the annual meet in regional tournaments over the weekend were Eau Claire Regis (11-11), Fausau Newman (13-6), Green Bay Pre-montre (15-6), Racine St. Catherine (18-4), Milwaukee Marquette (18-3), and Appleton Xavier (22-0).

In final regional games, Eau Claire defeated Superior Cathedral 66-50; Edgewood won from Prairie du Chien, 64-58; Wausau Newman nosed out Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 51-48 in overtime; Green Bay Pre-montre won from De Pere Pennings, 64-40; Milwaukee Pius beat Waukesha Memorial, 55-33; Milwaukee Marquette defeated Milwaukee St. Benedict, 68-63 and Racine St. Catherine trounced Beloit Catholic, 85-40.

Eau Claire Regis and Green will open the tournament Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Racine takes on Marquette at 4 p.m. Appleton faces Wausau Newman at 7:30 and the Edgewood-Pius St. Mary also had an excellent game winds up the first night's activity. The tournament ends Sunday.

Tiger-Fullmer Rematch May be Set for June

Each Fighter Feels He Had Won Title Bout

BY JACK STEVENSON
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gene Fullmer remains unfinished business for middleweight champion Dick Tiger today—both settlement is expected in a big-money match during June.

Financial figures in the $100,000 bracket are flying as fast as the punches thrown Saturday night in Convention Center. The Nigerian Tiger retained his crown there, but only on a draw decision after 15 rounds of battling.

Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, who lost his title to Tiger in San Francisco last Oct. 23, declared, "I'm ready for the rematch. I thought I beat him Saturday night and there's no reason I can't do it again."

Tiger, however, felt he had won. He said he was shocked at referee Vern Bybee, who scored it a 68-69 draw while judge John Romero scored for Fullmer, 70-68. Judge Pat Diskin ruled for Tiger, 71-67. The Associated Press had it even at 70-70 under the Nevada scoring system of five points to the winner of a round and four or less to the loser.

At a news conference later, Tiger criticized the man who fought him to a standoff.

"He shouldn't use tricks," Tiger said of the Fullmer strategy of jabbing and dancing away. "I am the champion. I'll never use tricks."

In the San Francisco fight, Fullmer employed his usual style. He bullied his way in—and took a licking while doing it. So he switched styles for this one.

"You can't do the same thing with a guy each time and have the same success," Fullmer answered when asked if he would use the same tactics in the third bout. "I'll have to vary what I did Saturday night."

Already mentioned as possible sites for the third match in the series are Los Angeles, Las Vegas, New York, Boreman, Mont. Edmonton, Canada, Syracuse, U.Y., and even the champion's home country, Nigeria.

It didn't appear probably, however, that enough money could be raised in Tiger's homeland to take the fight there.

The draw was the third for Fullmer in championship fights, which is believed to be unprecedented in boxing records. While the 31-year-old Fullmer held the crown, he fought even matches against Joey Giardello and Sugar Ray Robinson.

Tiger was unhappy about several things. Pointing to a bandage on a cut above his eye, he declared, "It was his head that did that. I wouldn't mind if it was a punch, but it was a butt."

Fullmer replied, "It was not a butt. I hit him with a right hand."

The champion also said he scored a knock-down in the ninth round. If this had been so, the extra points might have given him the fight. But the referee ruled that Fullmer slipped to the canvas.

"I hit him and he went down," Tiger said. "If he was off balance, he shouldn't have been off balance."

Hawks Top Zephyrs, Gain State Tournament Berth

Win, 84-66

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The dazzling Xavier Hawks, winningest team in all of Wisconsin high school basketball, stormed into the state Catholic tournament by topping Menasha St. Mary's Zephyrs, 84-66, in the Region 5 finals here Sunday night.

Unbeaten Xavier, which has qualified for a crack at the state Catholic title for the second straight year, meets Wausau Newman-Region 3 champion—at 7 p.m. Friday in the Milwaukee Arena. (The Hawks have already flogged the Wausau quint twice, 73-44 and 67-42, this season).

The Hawks shot fantastically under tournament pressure last night—88.4 per cent from the free throw line and 50 per cent from

Fever-Pitch Basketball
Keved-up players, volcanic coaches (Gene Clark and Ralph McClone) and screaming spectators (a capacity gathering of more than 1,800) played their roles to the hilt in 32 minutes of fever-pitch basketball.

Highly-favored Xavier led for the final 28:54 of play. Though the Zephyrs were out-classed, they were not out-fought. They kept swarming over the Hawks with a full-court press and firing away at the basket even when they were as far behind as 28 points (61-33 and 63-33).

In fact, when Xavier went into a semi-stall, for much of the final quarter, the Zephyrs achieved a 9 to 4 field goal edge and snagged basket honors for the night, 24 to 23. St. Mary is the first team this season to out-field goal Xavier.

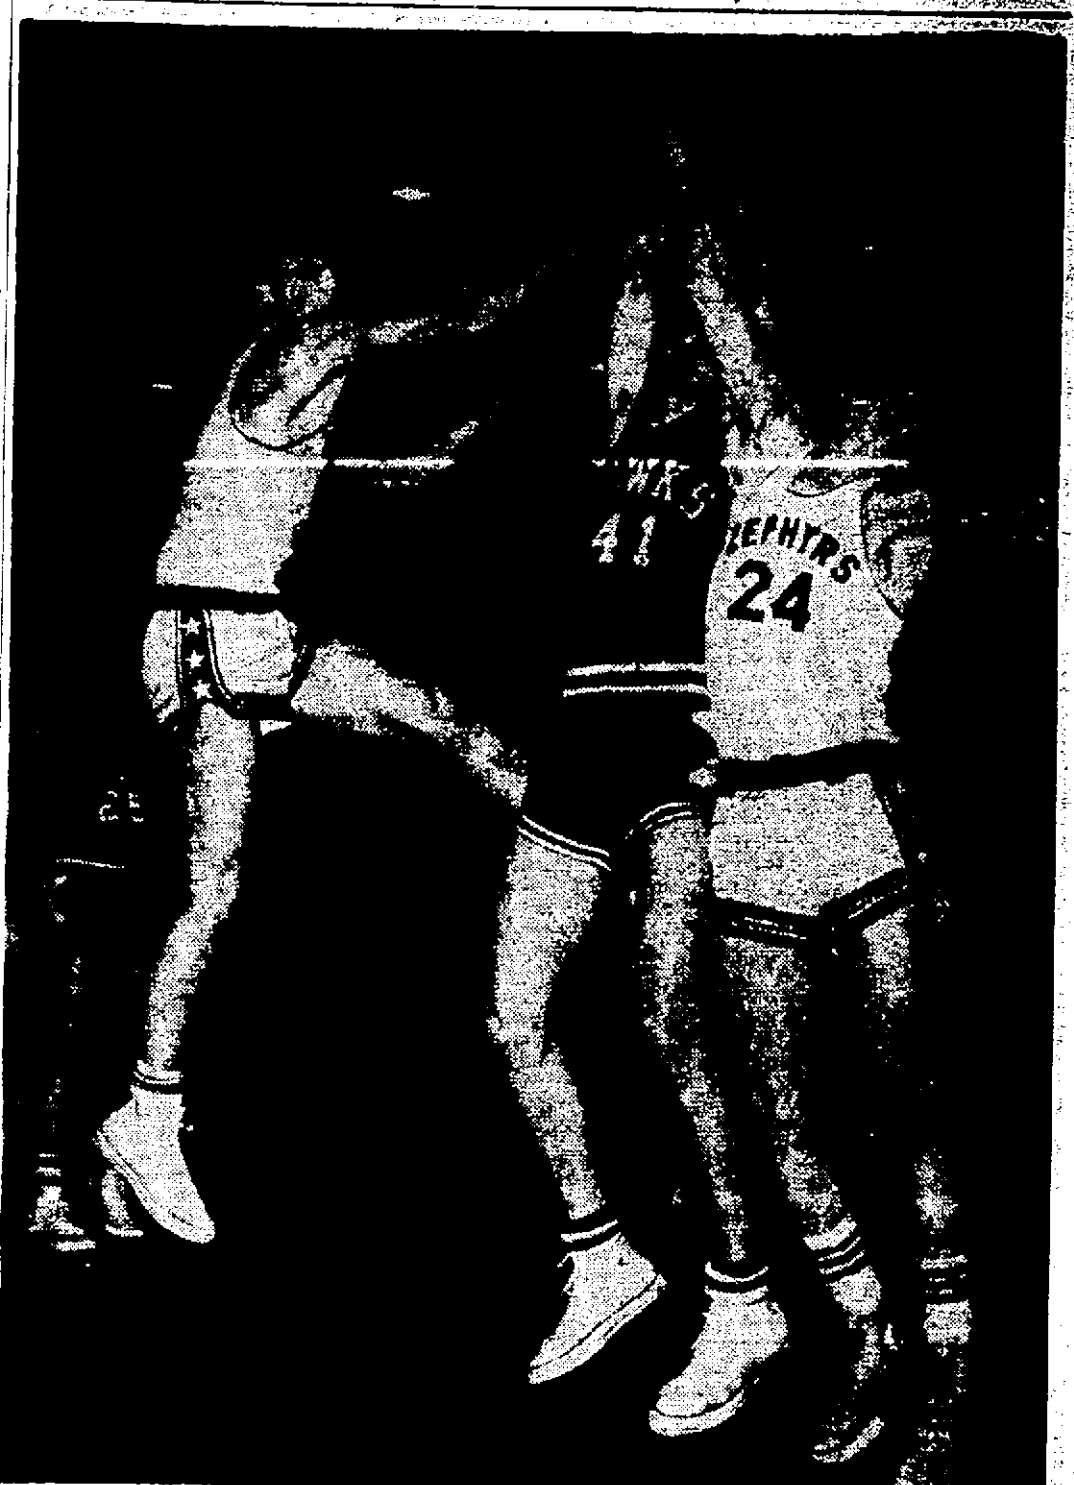

Xavier, however, took advantage of the aggressive Zephyrs' 28 fouls with a superlative free-throwing exhibition (38 for 43). St. Mary also had an excellent percentage—750—but had only 24 chances from the line.

Wagner, Hiestand, Rogness and Konkol Round Out Honor Unit

NEENAH — Two-time scoring champion Tom Wagner of Shawano, heads the Mid-Eastern Conference all-star team selected by the circuit's coaches.

Because the spring conference meeting isn't scheduled until after the state tournament, for the second year, the coaches decided to make their all-league choices before that session.

Joining Wagner on the first quintet, which is composed of players from five separate schools, are Lee Leveknecht, of champion seniors Dick Kuehl, Neenah, Wes Kimberly, Dick Rogness, Neenah, VanderVelden, Kimberly, and Ken Eggert, New London.

Wagner, a 3-year regular for the Indians, won the scoring crown with 281 points, 24 fewer than his league high as a junior. Leveknecht, key man in Kimberly's drive on the championship, was runnerup in scoring with 266 points, including 21 in the win over Two Rivers Friday night which brought the Papermakers the undisputed title.

Rogness, a 6-4 southgaw jump shot artist, tallied 237 points while Konkol, who as a junior only collected 26 in league play, finished with 235, including 29 in the wind-up against New London. Hiestand sat out the league finale because of illness and closed the campaign with 221 markers.

BY JOE MOOSHLI
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State, Illinois and Indiana—bunched tightly in the torrid race for the Big Ten basketball championship—hit the road Monday night and the team which can win away from home could grab the inside lane towards the title.

Ohio State and Illinois, tied for the lead with 8-2 records, are one lap ahead of Indiana at 7-3. Still very much in the picture because of the schedule is Minnesota with a 7-4 mark.

Four losses at this stage of the season usually are enough to eliminate a team. But Minnesota plays its final three games at home and takes on, in order, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio State.

The big test Monday night finds Illinois at Minnesota. While Minnesota battles for survival, and Illinois for position, Ohio State invades Northwestern and Indiana moves in on Wisconsin. Rounding out the Monday program is the Iowa-Michigan game.

All Could Lose
It is quite conceivable that Illinois, Ohio State and Indiana all can lose Monday night. In that case, Minnesota will climb back into serious contention and the race not only will go down to the final games March 9, but could easily end in a tie involving more than two teams.

Home superiority for the season has not been a tremendous factor in the Big Ten. But in recent weeks several teams venturing on the road have been trimmed.

Norma McKahan Takes Honors in Badger Bonspiel

The Norma McKahan rink, Wausau, defeated the Marion Cottrell rink, of Madison, in the finals of the first event for the championship of the Badger Women's bonspiel at the Appleton Curling Club Sunday.

In the second event, the title went to the Betty Snetzky rink of Milwaukee with a victory over Bea Evans, Appleton.

The Margaret Barrington rink, Wausau, won the third event over Marian Urban, Wausau. Mae Sommers, Portage, took the fourth event with a win over last year's champion, Tilly Moses, Wausau.

St. Louis to Invade MU Floor Tonight

MILWAUKEE — Marquette's Warriors, nearing the end of their home basketball season, will on St. Louis University at the Milwaukee Arena Monday night.

After the St. Louis game the Warriors, who have a 14-7 record, have only one more game at home, meeting Detroit here Thursday.

St. Louis beat Marquette, 73-68, in the first meeting of the teams this season. The Billikens are shooting for a victory which may give them a tournament bid in the National Invitational meet. St. Louis is 15-3 for the season.

Nikita, Mao Seeking an End to Split

Signs of Thaw in Icy Relations Began to Appear 10 Days Ago

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung seem to be dipping their toes gingerly into the waters of reconciliation.

There are indications from both Moscow and Peking that the leaders of the two Red giants want to bridge their ideological and political fissure which has rocked the Communist world. Signs of a thaw in the icy relations began to appear ten days ago.

Among the latest developments 1. Mao Tse-tung called in the Soviet ambassador to China, Stepan V. Chervonenko, for their first serious talk. Pravda on Sunday gave big front page play to the meeting.

East German Congress
Wu Hsiu-chuan, who was publicly humiliated by Khrushchev at the East German Red party congress in Berlin, was present Wu toured East European party congresses recently, attacking Yugoslavia and, by implication, Khrushchev.

Also present was Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Chinese president Liu Shao-chi. 2. On a slightly lower level in Moscow Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had the new Chinese ambassador, Pan Tzu-li, to lunch obviously with Khrushchev's approval. This also was big news in Sunday's Pravda.

It was evident both ambassadors had something of importance to report to their chiefs and also that they had had something of importance to say to their hosts. Khrushchev singled out Pan for ostentatious attention at a Moscow reception. He publicly pledged the eternal brotherhood of the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Then Pravda printed a long editorial which, as the Chinese had done previously, deplored the publicity surrounding the dispute. It said the Soviet Communist party would meet privately with any fraternal party no matter what quarrels lay between them. Such a meeting, Pravda said, could then be followed by an international session of the world Communist movement.

Soviet Criticism
The Peking People's Daily, organ of the Chinese party, then printed without comment the harsh Soviet criticism of Communist China's "hard line" policy. It also ran Pravda's suggestion for a meeting but with more emphasis upon the multination gathering.

Sunday the People's Daily took the next and expected, step in this elaborately formalized dance. It blamed somebody else for the fight. The French and Italian Communist parties, said the organ of the Chinese Reds, "slandered the Communist party of China and other fraternal parties and distorted the truth about the differences within the ranks of the international Communist movement."

If the Russians will buy this it could mean the two giants would smooth things over with only a few ritual sacrifices in Paris and Rome.

Highway Toll Climbs to 80
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's highway traffic toll for 1963 has climbed to 80 compared with 65 on this date a year ago.

Mrs. Margaret Werner, 39, of rural Medford, was killed Sunday when her car and another automobile collided on Highway 13 near her Taylor County home. Dianne Marie Christman, 18, Racine, was killed early Sunday when the car in which she was riding collided with another automobile at the western city limits of Racine.

George E. Heal, Jr., 23, of Kenosha, was killed early Sunday when he apparently lost control of his car on Highway 14 about a mile east of Readstown in Vernon County. The automobile left the highway and struck a culvert.

First Woman Elected To Monaco Council

Prince Ramier, whose wife is former American actress Grace Kelly, gave women the right to vote and to hold office in proclaiming a new constitution last December. Women outnumber men 1,922 to 1,174 on Monaco's voting rolls.

Franco's Goals Coming Nearer To Acceptance

But Spain Still Hasn't Realized Its 'Grand Design'

BY RICHARD SCOTT MOWBRER

MADRID — Like President Kennedy and Charles de Gaulle, Generalissimo Francisco Franco has a "grand design" to win for Spain and its regime full acceptance abroad and to break free of the lingering ostracism that still blackens this country's status among nations.

Since the defeat in 1945 of the German and Italian dictatorships and the political and economic isolation that followed, Spain has come a long way toward attainment of this objective.

Under the generalissimo's skillful guidance, authoritarian Spain has climbed the rungs from survival to co-existence to cooperation with the Western democracies. Now it wants to go a stage further to full acceptance as a respected ally of the free world.

Thanks to the cold war—and the hot one in Korea—Franco edged from isolation to a place in the West's lineup against communist expansion. In 1953 a package deal brought Spain into the United Nations. Thereafter membership in other international bodies followed.

Enduring Hostility
But enduring hostility to Franco now 70, has kept Spain out of the Atlantic Alliance, although neighboring Portugal, with a similar regime is in the NATO powers of northern Europe, in particular those that suffered from Nazi occupation at a time when Spain was on good terms with Germany, oppose Spanish membership.

Belgium and the Netherlands also are members of the European Common Market, and, in their present mood, they can be expected to keep Spain out of this organization too, if and when Spain's year-old application for associate membership comes up for consideration. As with NATO, one veto is enough.

Nonetheless there is a surge of optimism in Madrid. Never have conditions seemed more propitious for pushing Franco's "grand design" to its ultimate conclusion. Final breakout from dog-house to respectability.

Just as the postwar break between the communist and democratic allies helped Franco so the present disarray in the Western alliance is expected here to play into the Caudillo's hands. The impression persists that De Gaulle's overtures to Spain give Franco a bargaining lever in the coming negotiations with the United States. The Spanish may be over-optimistic.

Detailed Story of How U. S. Firm Pushed Thalidomide Documented

BY JAMES MCCARTNEY

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The detailed story of how a leading drug company promoted the baby-deforming drug, Thalidomide, has been documented by a Senate subcommittee.

The subcommittee has assembled materials given to "special representatives" of the William S. Merrell Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, to promote Thalidomide in the United States.

One of the documents covers instructions given to the "special representatives" to promote use of the drug among doctors in hospitals before it was to be introduced commercially.

Over and over the special representatives were urged to hand pick "influential" doctors — get them to use the drug.

They, in turn, theoretically would influence their colleagues. Cited Thursday.

The Merrell Co., a division of the Richardson-Merrell Corp., was cited by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration last Thursday on charges of distributing the drug when it was not approved.

The company denied the charge categorically. It said it had distributed the drug to medical men as part of a "straight forward scientific inquiry in full compliance with the law."

Thalidomide has now been shown to have contributed to the births of malformed infants in several countries.

It was never released officially for commercial use in the United States but the Merrell Co. was engaged in an elaborate program to promote its use in 1960.

Had No Idea
The company has stated that it had no idea the drug could lead to malformations until November of 1961.

In its 1960 documents, however, it assured the team of "special representatives" that the safety of Thalidomide had been "firmly established."

In its documents the Merrell Co. always referred to Thalidomide by its own special name—Kevadon.

Said one portion of the instructions to representatives: "We have firmly established the safety, dosage and usefulness of Kevadon by both foreign and U.S. laboratory and clinical studies."

It advised the representatives to contact top doctors and to tell them they had been specially selected to test Kevadon.

"Appeal to the doctor's ego," said the instructions—let him know that "we think he is important enough to be selected as one of the first to use Kevadon."

And the instructions added: "don't get involved by selling a research program instead of Kevadon."

The instructions also told the special representatives "how to make contacts with the most influential doctors, what to tell them once contact had been made and, in detail, how to administer the drug."

Among important points to remember "the special representatives were advised: "In contacting the doctor's secretary be positive. You have a definite purpose for your call—something special for the doctor that isn't commercially available."

The Food and Drug Administration in its citation against the Merrell Co. requires Merrell to show cause at a hearing why it should not be prosecuted for distributing the drug.

Farm Worker Shot, Killed by Uncle

ARGYLE (AP)—A 45-year-old farm laborer, Melvin Phillips, was shot and killed during an argument Sunday.

Lafayette County Sheriff Edward Thompson said that Phillips' uncle, Howard Phillips, 75, admitted the shooting. No charge was placed against the man immediately pending an inquest.

Thompson quoted the older man as saying he attempted to stop an argument between Melvin and a niece Irma Phillips, 51. Howard Phillips said that when Melvin turned on him, he went to his room got a rifle and fired one shot.

Thompson said the brother and sister lived in the home, while the uncle stayed there occasionally.

Rockefeller May Appoint Board to Examine N. Y. Strike

Printers Head Says if Group Were Established, 'We'd Respond'

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he may appoint a board of inquiry, with subpoena powers, to look into the 80-day old New York City newspaper blackout.

The head of the striking printers says that if such a board were set up, "we'd respond." But as to accepting the findings of the board, adds Bertram A. Powers, "we reserve the right to accept or reject on the merits of the proposal."

There was no immediate comment by the publishers.

Rockefeller told a television audience Sunday — two hours before printers and publishers began separate talks with Mayor Robert F. Wagner at City Hall — that he "will have to consider a board of inquiry." If Wagner can't get the city's nine major papers back on the streets.

End of Road

"We have arrived at the end of the road," Rockefeller said. "This thing cannot go any further."

The governor set no specific time for intervening in the dispute that he termed critical — from an economic point of view. He said he would act "pretty soon."

Powers, president of striking Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, was asked — on a radio program — if the printers preferred Wagner or Rockefeller to act as umpire. Powers replied, "We have no preference."

As the Democratic mayor left City Hall, he said the dispute should not become involved in politics and that he believes the Republican governor feels the same way.

Proxmire Says Deficit Won't Boost Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today he sees nothing in economic history to indicate the expected $12 billion federal deficit in the next fiscal year will stimulate economic growth.

"In our $550 billion economy, even the $12 billion deficit programmed by the administration will be swamped by the impact of private economic forces," he said in a statement.

Proxmire is a member of the Senate-House Economic Committee which recently conducted hearings on President Kennedy's fiscal program for the year beginning July 1.

Several economists testified that the anticipated deficit, resulting partially from a proposed tax cut, would stimulate a lagging national economy.

Laird Urges Money for Forest Lab

$4 Million Would Start New Facility Planned at Madison

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Appropriations subcommittee has been urged by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., to approve $4 million for starting construction of new facilities at the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis.

The estimated cost of the work including new buildings is $10 million. Laird is a member of the full Appropriations Committee.

Noting that Congress last year appropriated $200,000 for architect's fees, Laird said there is no request for construction funds in President Kennedy's budget for the year starting July 1. But, he said, construction money should be voted by Congress.

New Work
He said the new work would include a Pulp Paper and Wood Chemistry Building as the first stage of the modernization and enlargement program.

Now, as in the projected plans for the future, Laird said, the Forest Service does about two-thirds of its wood utilization research at Madison and one-third at 10 regional forest experiment stations.

Beatty Sets Sights On 2-Mile Record

BY ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — After running four of the six indoor sub-four-minute miles on record, Jim Beatty has decided to leave the lodge for the rest of the indoor season and his rivals couldn't have had happier news if he decided to move to Tibet.

Beatty, the barrel-chested little Los Angeles Track Club ace, whipped to a 3:59 flat mile in the National AAU track and field championships last Saturday and he wasn't even pushing. Last year he went under 4 minutes twice and less than two weeks ago, he lowered the indoor record to 3:58.6 with young Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago chasing him home.

O'Hara also broke the 4-minute mark. Last year, Siegfried Hermann of East Germany made the club. So it still is a three-man organization.

How far down can Beatty bring the indoor record? The possibilities are fantastic. Consider that he had to lead the pack all the way in the AAU mile. This is distasteful to top runners. They like someone to pull them.

Also consider that Beatty hit the three-quarters in exactly 3 minutes. He is capable of running the last quarter under 57 seconds. With someone to pull him out and a fast final quarter, 3:56 does not seem beyond him.

2-Mile Record
"I think I can hit 3:57," said the 28-year-old insurance adjuster. "But I'm not going to run the mile any more this winter. I'm going after Peter Snell's 8:34.4 2-mile record in the Chicago Daily News Relays."

That means, of course he won't tangle with O'Hara in the Bankers Mile. Beatty already holds the world outdoor record—indoor records are recognized only in the United States—of 8:29.8.

"I wish some of the other guys in the AAU race had pushed me in that last quarter," Beatty said. "It might have been better."

Actually, Witold Baran of Poland ("That Beatty is the best runner in the world") kept close for three-quarters. But he couldn't keep up the killing pace and wound up fourth in 4:02.6. Jim Grelle, Beatty's Los Angeles Track Club teammate, was second in 4 minutes flat and Bill Dotson of Lawrence, Kan., was third in 4:00.2. Beatty hit the first quarter in 58.2 and the half in 1:58.8.

The biggest disappointment in the meet was Pentti Nikula of Finland, who cleared a fantastic 16 feet 8 inches in the pole vault three weeks ago. Nikula just got over 15 feet after missing it twice, passed at 15-4 and failed at 16 even. Dave Turk won at 15-6 on fewer misses over Rolando Cruz, John Belizita and Henry Wadsworth.

Valery Brumel of Russia, defeating John Thomas again, clearing 7-3 1/4 in the high jump, a half-inch under his record, to 7 even for the Boston University senior. Brumel's teammate, Igor Terovanyan, turned back Ralph Peterson in the broad jump for the third time in three meetings this winter, 26-6 1/2 to 25-9.

Black Hawks Triumph Over Boston, 4-3

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stan Mikita, a crew-cut kid from Czechoslovakia, with the hottest hand in the National Hockey League, is one of the principal reasons the Chicago Black Hawks have all but broken Montreal's five-year hold on the regular season title.

The 22-year-old forward blasted in three goals—his second hat trick in three games—and added an assist Sunday night as the Black Hawks whipped past Boston 4-3 in Chicago and increased their lead to eight points over the idle Canadiens.

The four-point effort by Mikita broke him out of a four-way tie for the league's scoring lead and left him alone at the top with 65 points, including 28 goals.

Veteran Gordie Howe assisted on each Detroit goal in the Red Wings' 3-2 triumph at New York and now trails Mikita by one point with 64.

Gene Kollarek Wins Westby Ski Tourney

John Balfanz Leaped 356 Feet Only to Fall as He Landed

WESTBY (AP) — A 22-year-old Minnesota jumper leaped farther than any other skier in American competition Sunday, going 356 feet in the Snowflake Ski Club's 40th annual tournament but the jump did not count because he fell as he landed.

As a result, John Balfanz of Minneapolis had to settle for fourth place in Class A competition while Gene Kollarek of Duluth, a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, went on to victory.

Kollarek, a Minnesota - Duluth college senior, combined leaps of 287 and 297 feet for a total of 218.5 points to top Class A. Kollarek set a new U.S. record of 322 feet last week at Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Balfanz hit 381 feet on his first attempt and broke the hill record of 317 feet he set last year. It was on his second jump that he went 356 feet, only to fall at the finish.

Lyle Swenson of Westby finished second in the meet and Ole Tom Nord, a University of Washington student, took third place.

John Lyons of St. Paul won the Veterans Class event on leaps of 240 and 252 feet. David Hicks of Duluth took junior honors with 310 and 265 foot efforts.

The Class B event was won by Dave Norby of Madison who jumped 253 and 270 feet.

Burdette Hits Homer in First Camp Game Leads Team To 15-3 Win Over Spahn's Squad

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette stole the show Sunday with a home run and two doubles as the Braves' pitchers and catchers got their first test of competition for 1963.

The battermen staged an informal contest in which they ran only from home plate or second base and back. Burdette's team drubbed one handled by pitcher Warren Spahn, 15-3.

Burdette's home run was the first hit out of new Municipal stadium, still in the process of construction. There were subsequent homers by pitchers Jim Britton, Jim Constable, Arnie Uhlrich and Archie White.

Milwaukee manager Bobby Bragan plans similar games through Thursday, prior to the opening of full-scale workouts when the rest of the players report Friday.

The hurling corps was completed by the arrival of Carl Willey. Catcher Joe Torre, unhappy over contract terms offered, is the lone holdout among the battery-men. Outfielders Gus Bell and Mack Jones also are unsigned.

Dowler Scores 38 Points to Pace Packers

MANITOWOC — Boyd Dowler poured in 38 points to lead the Green Bay Packers basketball team to a 60-56 victory over the Manitowoc Chiefs game squad here Saturday night before a throng of 2,500 fans.

Dowler pumped away for 18 field goals. Lew Carpenter added six points while John Symank, Jerry Kramer, Bob Skoroniski, and Fred Thurston each chipped in with four.

Mike Sindelar led Manitowoc with 12 points, with Carl Dueber adding 11.

The Packers will stage a benefit game here March 30 for John Stzylewski, a Manitowoc resident who was a promising pitching prospect before losing his pitching hand in a factory accident earlier this month.

Xavier Meets Wausau '5

and for the second successive time in the regional finals, the Hawks snapped the St. Mary win streak at five games and McCrone's regional coaching victory akin at 11. McCrone had never lost a regional journey game until last night.

A pair of tourney-hardened veterans, "Kip" Whittinger and Dick Wiesner, teamed with a junior, Bob DeBruin, to account for 67 of the Hawks' 84 points.

Whittinger flipped in seven of 15 floor shots and 12 straight free throws for 26 points. DeBruin swished eight of 13 from the field and seven straight from the line for 23 points—the most imposing total of his varsity career.

Wiesner was only one shot short of perfection—making four of five from the floor and 10 of 10 from the line.

The Zephyrs' attack was also primarily a 3-pronged affair. Gene Patzner blazed away for 14 points in the last quarter (including six baskets in seven attempts) to finish with 22 tallies for the night.

He was 7-for-14 from the floor and 8-for-8 from the line. Tom Mortell and Tom Johnson contributed 16 and 12 points, respectively.

With the Xavier full court press forcing St. Mary into three straight mistakes at the outset of the game, the Hawks gained a 3-0 lead. The Zephyrs, however, retaliated to take three momentary leads—at 4-3, 5-4 and 7-6.

A Bleier free throw tied the score for the last time at 7-7 and Whittinger rolled in a 20-footer to put Xavier ahead for keeps with 4-34 left in the first quarter.

Xavier center John Heinritz was tagged with his third foul in the fourth minute of the game, and St. Mary closed to within one point, 11-10. The Hawks then came up with one of their explosive spurts for which 1962-3 opponent has found a defense.

Whittinger canned a pair of free throws, "Rocky" Bleier hooped a drive-in and hit from the corner (his only two goals of the night) and DeBruin bombed away from the corner and came through moments later with a successful rebound. The 10 straight points put Xavier out of immediate range 21-10.

The Hawks kept up the tempo, putting a pair of 23-point quarters back to back for a 46-26 halftime lead. The yma de 18 21 free throws and 14 of 25 field tries in the first half.

Clark took the press off for most of the final two periods. The Hawks, however, kept the Zephyrs at bay with an effective zone defense and by securing strategic rebounding position—Bleier, DeBruin, Heinritz and reserve Tom Rankin were especially potent under the boards. Xavier took fewer shots than previously but seldom missed in upholding its lead to 28 points in the first seven minutes of the third quarter.

Behind, 63-39, at the start of the fourth quarter the never say die Zephyrs disrupted the Xavier possession game to outscore the Hawks 18-8, in a 5-minute stretch. Xavier, however, refused its at tack to smoke through eight points in 35 seconds (five by De Bruin and three by Wiesner) to snuff out any Zephyr hopes for a miracle St. Mary, though, out scored Xavier, 27-21, in the final period, with Patzner providing the bulk of the fireworks.

For the game, Xavier sank 23 of 46 floor shots while St. Mary notched 24 of 68 (for 35.3 per cent).

Sacred Heart, Holy Name Win Cage Crowns

Maahs Named Most Valuable In C-I Meet

MENASHA—Appleton Sacred Heart and Holy Name Kimberly won championships in basketball tournaments here Sunday afternoon.

Sacred Heart defeated the Menasha City Employees, 72-67, to win the title in the St. John Church - Industrial tournament. Holy Name bested the Sacred Heart CYO squad, 64-48, in the finals of the St. Patrick CYO meet.

Trailing, 56-53, at the close of three frames, Sacred Heart scored 19 points in the fourth frame to the City Employees' 11 for the triumph. Jim Maahs, named the most valuable player, scored 22 points and Ron Abel and Tom Grushaber each had 21 for the winners. Greg Ropella had 19 for the losers.

Kimberly Holy Name toppled Neenah Paper, 96-67, for third place as Hank Peerenboom hit 31 points and Tom Gossens added 28. The victors scored 23 points in the first period and 32 in the second. Paul Felton had 24 for the losers.

Champions Ousted
Defending Champion Holy Name was ousted by Sacred Heart, 68-64, in the semi-finals. The Kimberly team also was competing in the Green Bay Recreation tournament Saturday night and sent five players to each meet.

Jim Peerenboom had 32 points for the losers while Sacred Heart's balanced attack was led by Maahs' 17.

The City Employees downed Neenah Paper, 68-66, in two overtimes in the other semi-final. All tourney honors went to Abel and Grushaber, Sacred Heart, Hank Peerenboom and Lee Neve. Kimberly, Ropella, John Chapleau and Clem Massey, City Employees, Bob Karisny, St. Den nis, Shuonett, Felton and Joe Kosiorek. Neenah Paper, and Claude Radtke, Appleton St. Paul. St. Paul also won the sportsman-ship trophy.

Vande Hey Hits 31
A 31-point effort by Pete Vande Hey carried the Kimberly Holy Name CYO team to victory over Sacred Heart Holy Name which recently won the Sheboygan tourney, had a narrow 32-30 halftime lead. Dick Schellout added 20 points. Dick Boots topped Sacred Heart with 14.

Immaculate Conception of Sheboygan came from behind in the last quarter to edge Appleton St. Therese, 51-50, for third place. Jim Thielman topped the losers with 18 points.

Among the all-tourney choices were Tom Heiler, Dave Sheldon and Boots, Sacred Heart, Thielman and Dave Christianson, St. Therese, and Schellout, Vande Hey and Mike Williams, Holy Name.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some Los Angeles pro basketball fans apparently aren't content with deriding the referee when their team loses.

Take Sunday night in Los Angeles when the invading Boston Celtics routed the Lakers 119-109 in the National Basketball Association. At halftime with Boston ahead 66-51 some in the crowd of 14,828 trapped referee Norm Drucker near the dressing room. He was mauled and kicked in the shins before rescued by police.

In NBA Sunday afternoon games the Detroit Pistons beat the Cincinnati Royals 119-110 at Baltimore, the St. Louis Hawks drubbed the San Francisco Warriors 127-106 and the Syracuse Nats whipped the New York Knicks 143-126. Detroit beat Cincinnati 105-102 and San Francisco downed Chicago 92-88 Saturday night.

The champion Celtics piled up a 30-point lead on the Lakers at 94-64 before Coach Red Auerbach pulled his regulars and Los Angeles scored 16 straight points.

Hietpas Takes Singles Lead In COF Meet

Tony Hietpas, of Little Chute, rolled into the singles lead and Hietpas and Don LeNoble, also of Little Chute, took the doubles lead as the 41st annual Fox Valley-Lakeshore Catholic Order of Foresters bowling tournament opened at the 41 Bowl over the week end.

Hietpas pounded a 619 in the singles to grab the lead with LeNoble second with a 612 and Joe Suess, Appleton, third with 550.

In the doubles, Hietpas and LeNoble rolled a 1,066 total while Suess and William Keller, Appleton, placed second with 1,027.

In the team event, Murphy's of Eden took over the lead with a 2,871 series with Grandview Darry, DePere second with 2,783. Appleton Court 132 was third with 2,716 and following were Badger Metals, Appleton, 2,678 and O'Brien's Eden, 2,669.

Harold Haberman, Appleton, had the high individual game of the weekend, a 235 singleton.

Lake-Harmon Rink Wins in Clintonville

Triumphs Over Sell-Sasse in 'Mixed' Finals

CLINTONVILLE—Four out of town rinks took first places in each of the events in the Clintonville Curling Club's third annual mixed bonspiel over the weekend.

The Lake Harmon rink, Madison, won over the Sell-Sasse rink, Clintonville, in the first event, the Ingberman rink, Wauwatosa, won over the Skarr-Pautsch rink, Wauwatosa, in the second event, the Keyon-Talbot rink of the Saddle and Cycle Club, Chicago, won over the Collins Nixon rink, Green Bay, in the third event, and the Braatz Miller rink, Waupaca, won over the Mullarkey-Cormany rink, Wauwatosa, in the fourth event.

The Ingberman rink won the first event in the 1962 bonspiel and the Lake Harmon rink won the first event in the 1961 bonspiel here. Sixteen rinks curled in the bonspiel, four of which were from the Wauwatosa Club, two from Madison, one each from Appleton, Chicago, Stevens Point, Milwaukee, Green Bay and Waupaca, and four from the host club.

Chairmen of the bonspiel were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Smith and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Schafer.

Appleton's January Parking Meter Funds Reach $14,546 Total

Parking meter revenue in Appleton during January was $14,546. The city's new West Ramp parking structure is far from being packed with cars daily, but when the shoppers invade the business district, it gets plenty of use.

City Treasurer Roy Fauerstein said the coin collections from the on-street meters last month totaled $10,146. Revenue derived from meters on the parking lots was $4,410.

Offer Alternatives, Kennedy Suggests To Tax Plan Critics

President Says His Program Will Boost Economic Growth

BY FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy took blunt issue today with critics of his tax cut plan, saying they have an obligation to offer positive alternatives if they don't like his top priority package.

Kennedy argued his proposal would promote the kind of economic growth that could add a total of $5,000 to the income of the average American family during the next 10 years. That would be an average annual earnings increase of $500 per family.

In a major address prepared for a symposium sponsored by the American Bankers Association, Kennedy said his own tax bill may not be perfect. He acknowledged that it "is now under attack from both the left and the right."

But the attacks, he said, "are under some obligation to put forward a solution of their own" to the growth-rate problem if they don't like his idea of cutting taxes by $10.2 billion during the next three years.

Squabbles Over Cuts

He also had sharp words for those who want lower taxes, provided they reap the biggest benefits.

"The prospects for tax reduction and economic growth must not be endangered by squabbles over who will benefit most," he asserted.

The ABA symposium was called to enable some 300 executives and analysts from public and private life to hear discussions of economic growth and possible ways of achieving it.

Per Jacobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, was one of those sharing the platform with Kennedy. Jacobsson argued that the European Common Market must look outward and associate with other areas of the free world—a hope that was dimmed by French President Charles de Gaulle's recent veto of British membership.

Replies to Critics
Kennedy aimed his remarks directly at the principal argu-

Forecast Says -12 Tuesday, 10 Cold Days

Midweek Weather Should be Warmer; Drop Seen Friday

Warm weekend weather came to a freezing halt this morning with a 4 below reading registered in Appleton at 9 a.m. And the weatherman claims the icy climate is here to stay for another 10 days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, predicted a low of 12 below and a high of 6 above for Tuesday. The weather bureau said temperatures will moderate Wednesday or Thursday, but plunge again Friday.

Appleton's cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., recorded a low of 4 below at 9 a.m. today.

In Neenah, WNAM Radio's weather scope reported readings of 2 above at 5 a.m., zero at 6 a.m., minus 1, the low, at 6:30 a.m., zero at 7 a.m., 1 above at 8 a.m. and 2 above at 9 a.m.

Oshkosh Reading
WOSH Radio, Oshkosh, had a low of 8 below at 5:30 a.m. and 3 below continuously from 6 to 9 a.m.

Appleton observer Ralph Dorn, 136 N. Story St., recorded a low of 8 below early this morning. Dorn also said the temperature should plunge to 12 below Tuesday.

WHKW-FM, on Lake Winnebago near Chilton, reported a low of 12 below at 7 a.m., with a rise to 3 below by 9 a.m. The station said winds stayed constant, between 6 and 7 miles an hour.

Superior had 19 below. Park

Resentment Over Exclusion Of Britain Major Factor In Refusal to Sign Treaty

BY NEL ELIS

BRUSSELS (AP)—Italy and the Netherlands took the lead today in striking back at France as the ruling body of the European Common Market gathered for the first time since the French vetoed Britain's entry into the group.

Both the Italians and Dutch made plain that they would not sign a new treaty for trade and aid with 18 African states, all but two of them former French colonies.

The delay means that for another year at least Frenchmen will have to pay higher prices for African coffee and African bananas, among other things.

African Aid Program

Under the new agreement, aid to African producers from a six-nation $730-million fund would have taken the place of subsidies France has paid. The fund is also to help the Africans develop new crops and industries.

The Common Market Council of Ministers is meeting for a two-day session in an atmosphere tense with resentments. The other five members—West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—are angry with the French for blocking Britain.

The African treaty was to have been signed this week at Yaounde, Cameroon. Now it seems likely to be deferred at least until the end of May. By that time Italy and the Netherlands will have elected new parliaments.

French Angered

Informed sources said deferment of the agreement angered French representative Jean Marc Boegner, who said, "This will be unfortunate for the Common Market."

The African treaty is close to the hearts of the French because it would tie the whole former French empire in Africa to the Common Market. The other European nations do not oppose it but they want to show their annoyance with the French.

"European Crisis"

Ambassador George Damas of Gabon said the 18 new nations hoped they would not be made to suffer from reprisals taken by some Common Market members. "After all, this is exclusively a European crisis," he said. "I hope

Thinks 4 U. S. Fliers Died in '61 Invasion

Dirksen Ready to Submit Findings to Senate Probers

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said today he has uncovered evidence that four American fliers were killed in the abortive 1961 invasion of Cuba.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he has completed a one-man inquiry into the Bay of Pigs disaster and is ready to turn his findings over to Senate investigators.

Other than to report the belief that four American lives were lost, he declined to discuss the evidence he has assembled. Some of it came from participants in the invasion and some from U.S. military personnel in the area at the time.

Early Report Denied

The Republican leader said the four fliers were shot down in invasion planes which did not carry U.S. markings. Presumably they were in B-26 bombers downed by jet trainers inherited by Fidel Castro from the overthrown Batista regime.

News stories at the time mentioned that one U.S. civilian flier might have been shot down. This report later was labeled erroneous.

Dirksen said he plans to discuss his findings with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee. A subcommittee inquiry into the military strength of Soviet-dominated Cuba is expected to get under way this week. Stennis has indicated he regards the 1961 invasion as "spilled milk" to which the group would not be justified in devoting much time at this point. Dirksen disagreed.

"It seems to me it becomes a matter of some importance when even four American lives are lost," he said.

Big Area of Lake Michigan Frozen Solid

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Lake Michigan's northwestern reaches appear to be frozen solid above a line from North Manitou Island to Green Bay, with a changing pattern of open water to the south.

The Coast Guard said Michigan ports below the solid freeze line display a variety of conditions in one of the area's most severe winters.

The cutters Woodbine, Arundel and Raritan were at work today attempting to break a path for two inbound tankers stalled some seven to eight miles offshore from Muskegon. Two car ferries apparently little difficulty in clearing the harbor and ice field. The cutter Sundew, meanwhile, was reported 10 miles below South Fox Island, having inched along only 21 miles in 24 hours after departing her base at Charlevoix.

The Ludington Coast Guard lifeboat station reported no car ferries stalled in that area and said ice there was breaking up.

11 Die, 34 Hurt in Colombian Clash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The Confederation of Colombian Workers blamed the government today for a clash between troops and striking cement workers that killed 11 persons and wounded 3 near Medellin Saturday.

The confederation charged the army ignored the strikers' constitutional rights and escorted a caravan delivering cement from the plant.

The government countered that extremist elements ambushed the caravan and began shooting at the escort, forcing the troops to return fire. All the dead were strikers. Eleven soldiers were wounded. Authorities have arrested 94 persons.

The cement workers struck three weeks ago demanding higher pay and fringe benefits.

Former Chief of ROK Goes Into Exile as Move for Stability

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Former secret police chief Kim Chong-pil, forced into at least temporary exile, said today he hopes his departure will stabilize South Korea's turbulent political situation.

The once-powerful Kim took an airplane to Tokyo to begin what is officially labeled a 50-day tour abroad as "ambassador at large."

There were unconfirmed reports that the winners of the power struggle within the military government were arresting some of the men who helped Kim turn the Central Intelligence Agency into a feared instrument of political power.

Soviet Aid Helps Keep Cubans From Starving

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's brother Raul admits that Cubans would be starving if it were not for aid from the Soviet Union.

"There are difficulties in our country," he said in a ceremony Saturday night commemorating the 45th anniversary of the Soviet army.

Just what aid the food-short Soviet Union is sending was not disclosed.

Scientific Inquiry

Computer Shows Only 4 Epistles by St. Paul

LONDON (AP)—Two researchers using an electronic computer have decided that St. Paul was the author of only four of the 14 Pauline epistles in the New Testament.

Scientific evidence for their thesis is to be published next month by Dr. G. H. C. MacGregor, professor of Bible criticism at Glasgow University, and the Rev. A. Morton, a minister at Culross Abbey, Fife.

Nature of Inquiry

Together they programmed the computer with a quarter of a million words of Greek prose and analyzed the results of a stylistic study of the epistles and work by other Greek authors.

Morton told a newsman: "The results are convincing. The work is based on the principle that authors have certain habits of style deeply ingrained. For the present study we have considered such things as the space between the uses of the word 'and,' repetitive uses of the word, sentences beginning with the word and so on."

Morton said their paper will present for the first time scientific evidence in support of the theory that only four of the epistles—Romans, First and Second Corinthians, and Galatians—were

Atlanta Racial Buffer Barricade Is Breached

ATLANTA (AP)—City officials planned today to repair a weekend breach made in Atlanta's so-called Berlin wall—actually barricades set up to create a racial buffer zone in the southwest section.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. said Sunday night it was up to the city to fix the wood and steel barrier breached on Harlan Road Friday night. A section was sawed off and tossed into a creek. The next night somebody filled the damaged portion with bushes and tree limbs.

No Breach of Peace

High Court Reverses Conviction of Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court set aside today the conviction of 187 Negroes on breach of the peace charges brought after they demonstrated against racial segregation on the South Carolina State Capitol grounds.

Justice Stewart delivered the court's 8-1 decision. Justice Clark wrote a dissenting opinion.

The Negroes, high school and college students, carried placards and paraded about the Capitol at Columbia, S.C., on March 2, 1961. The State Senate was in session at the time.

Stewart's opinion said that "in arresting, convicting and punishing the petitioners (the demonstrators) under the circumstances disclosed by this record, South Carolina infringed the petitioners' constitutionally protected rights of free speech, free assembly and freedom to petition for redress of their grievances."

Clark Dissents

Joining Stewart in the majority were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas, Harlan, Brennan, White and Goldberg.

Clark's dissenting opinion said that the demonstrators "of course, had a right to peaceable assembly, to espouse their cause and to petition," but, he added, "in my view the manner in which they exercised their rights was by no means the passive demonstration which this court (the majority) relates."

During argument of the case last December, Atty. Gen. Daniel McLeod of South Carolina, told the high court that about an hour after the demonstration began a crowd of spectators assembled on streets in the area, among them individuals known to police as troublemakers. The police then ordered the Negro demonstrators to disperse. They refused and were arrested.

Jack Greenberg, New York attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense and Educational Fund, told the Su-

Part of Tax Cuts May Evaporate

Behind Reduction Are Rising State, Local, Social Security Levies

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising state, local and Social Security taxes may nibble away a large chunk — possibly half — of President Kennedy's proposed tax cuts by the time they would take effect.

The $2.2-billion increase in Social Security rates on Jan. 1 and the $600-million hike in postal rates on Jan. 7 will offset most of the $3.1 billion in individual and corporate tax savings proposed by Kennedy for 1963.

With most of the 47 state legislatures meeting this year considering tax increases totaling perhaps $2.5 billion, much of the $3.2-billion reduction envisaged in the Kennedy program for 1964 would be wiped out.

Not all the legislatures are expected to raise taxes but it's true that a four-year cycle of such action has developed, and 1963 is the year for it. Thirty-three states raised taxes in 1959.

Three Factors

Three other factors will be working, tax experts report, to dilute the income-boosting, investment-stimulating and job-creating benefits of Kennedy's net $10.3-billion, three-year tax reduction.

1. Part of the taxpayers' savings would be picked up automatically by the 19 states whose taxpayers can deduct federal income taxes from their taxable income. In these states a cut in federal taxes means more income would be subject to state tax.

2. In 13 states whose tax systems are tied to the federal system, the laws require that citizens compute their taxable income on about the same basis as they do for the federal income tax. The revenue-boosting reforms which Kennedy seeks — including curtailed personal deductions — would become part of these state systems, unless the state rules are changed. The federal rate cuts would not necessarily be carried over into the state systems, so state tax liability would be increased.

3. Cities and other local governments not only a repressing state legislatures to raise taxes and funnel more revenue to the cities, but many are considering new taxes of their own.

Payroll Tax

Pittsburgh wants the Pennsylvania Legislature to let the city levy a 1 per cent income tax on non-residents who work in Pittsburgh. St. Paul has been weighing a 1 per cent income tax if the Minnesota Legislature does not enact a state sales tax to be shared with the cities. Buffalo, N.Y., has asked legislation enabling it to levy a 1 per cent payroll tax.

Only three states raised taxes in 1962 — Michigan, Mississippi and New Mexico — but state and local government costs went on rising almost everywhere. In many cases the feasible limit of borrowing has been reached.

A survey made by the Tax Foundation, Inc., New York, a privately supported, non-profit research organization, indicated that by early January revenue-raising fees for state services and business licenses, and extending sales taxes to new products.

Thinks 4 U. S. Fliers Died in '61 Invasion

Court Shelves 187 Convictions

Robert F. Kennedy opened the whole matter up to investigation with a statement that no U.S. air cover had been promised the invaders.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., accused Kennedy of trying to make a "readjustment of facts" to lay a major share of the blame for the invasion's failure on the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., contended on a television program Sunday that he and other Republicans had warned in advance what would happen in the Bay of Pigs.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who appeared on the program with Scott, said his colleague was engaging in "Monday morning quarterbacking."

"All of your talk about the Bay of Pigs was after the event," he told Scott.

He went on to say that by advocating drastic action against Cuba now, Scott was "trying to do some Friday afternoon quarterbacking — and you don't know the signals."

Scott went on to urge an ultimatum to the Soviets to get their troops out of Cuba. He said the United States should get its Latin American neighbors to join in a "total Western Hemisphere blockade" of Cuba.

The chairman of the Organization of American States said Sunday night he thought the OAS would support another blockade.

OAS Chairman Gonzalo J. Facio noted in a television interview that the organization voted unanimously last October to support the U.S. quarantine on offensive arms shipments to Cuba.

In Cuba, clothes rationing was to go into effect today in the Havana area. The Castro government said the rationing was aimed at destroying speculation and insuring a fairer distribution.

Temperatures were nearly 20 degrees below zero in Pellston, Mich., and International Falls, Minn. Generally clear and cold weather prevailed in upstate New York, with temperatures ranging from 15 in Poughkeepsie to zero in Watertown.

ing fees for state services and business licenses, and extending sales taxes to new products.

Shifting to a withholding system for state income taxes is gaining popularity. When it starts, taxpayers not only must pay the past year's taxes but make current payments out of their paychecks, as Virginia citizens are now doing. Kennedy was scornful of those ments advanced by critics of his call for the largest tax cut in the nation's history.

He was particularly biting in references to what he termed "heated talk about budget increases — partisan talk about swollen federal payrolls — exasperated talk about increasing the deficit — and, finally, rash talk about a crushing debt burden."

Kennedy said civilian budget expenditures are decreasing, the federal payroll is getting smaller in relation to the population, the deficit would be bigger than ever if inaction on taxes hastened a recession, and the national debt "is not only manageable but steadily declining" in relation to the size of the economy.

Basic Proposal

The President did not picture his tax plan as a take-it-or-leave-it proposition.

But he certainly pictured the administration plan as the basic framework for progress and said it tackles pressing issues which "must not be decided by the rule party politics, public opinion polls and predetermined prejudice."

In discussing economic growth, as Virginia citizens are now doing. Kennedy was scornful of those

His first parish was the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Campbellsport, where he served as pastor for almost three years. He came to Monmouth United Church of Christ, Kaukauna, his second parish, on Aug. 1, 1938.

The Kaukauna parish had about 300 parishioners when the Rev. Mr. Scheib arrived, and had grown to more than 525 persons when he left. In 1954 an $87,000 addition to the church and Sunday school was completed under his direction. In 1955 he celebrated his 25th year in Kaukauna and his parishioners presented him with a new automobile.

He was installed as president of the North Wisconsin Synod of Evangelical and Reformed Churches in September, 1958. The synod was composed of 73 churches with a total of 25,000 members, and covered the entire north half of the state. His headquarters were in Appleton.

The Northeast Wisconsin Association of the United Church of Christ was organized in Wausau in January, following the merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Church as the United Church of Christ. The Rev. Mr. Scheib, as first association minister, had under his jurisdiction 74 churches and 93 ministers. His headquarters continued to be in Appleton.

Family Survives

The Rev. Mr. Scheib is survived by his wife, one daughter, one son, two brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the First Congregational Church, Appleton. Dr. Clarence McCall, president of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ; the Rev. Edward C. Dahl, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and the Rev. John Seidler, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, will officiate. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 p.m. today until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, and then at the church until the time of services.

A memorial fund has been established for the United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities in New Brighton, Minn., and Lakeland College.

Ambassador Reported Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, the U.S. envoy to Germany, is progressing very well after undergoing minor surgery last Friday, State Department sources said today.

They said he is resting comfortably at Cornell Medical Center in New York, where he was taken after suffering a kidney attack on his way back to his post in Bonn.

Officials declined to speculate on precisely when Dowling will be able to proceed to Bonn.

The same officials firmly knocked down speculation that Dowling might be replaced as Ambassador to Bonn in the foreseeable future. There were rumors earlier this year that Undersecretary of State George McGhee might be appointed to the post. More recently, some German newspapers have speculated about the possibility that Gen. Lucius D. Clay would be named.

Both are speculations without any foundation, officials here said.

"that anyone conversant with the almost spontaneous combustion in some Southern communities in such a situation will agree that the city manager's action (in deciding that danger to peace and safety was imminent) may well have averted a major catastrophe."

Oscar Nominations Announced Today

Foreign Films Rate High

BY JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood begins its annual dizzy Oscar carnival today by announcing the 1963 Academy Award nominations.

Reflecting the global aspect of movie making, it looks as if this year's awards will be the most international yet.

One Italian picture, "Divorce, Italian Style," is rated a good chance to cop a best picture nomination and also a best actor nomination for star, Marcello Mastroianni. Mastroianni doesn't speak English.

"The Longest Day," Darryl F. Zanuck's personal movie invasion of Normandy, is a strong candidate also. It is the first multiple language movie wherein the German, French, English and American soldiers speak lines in their native tongues.

Dead Playwright

There also could be a chance of a deceased playwright who never wrote a word for the movies being nominated for best screen play.

Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," is a favorite for a best picture nomination. Its makers filmed O'Neill's story of his tragic family mostly as a photographed play, using the famed dramatist's stage directions as a working script. He got solo screen play credit.

Much of the competition is expected to involve such movies as "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Days of Wine and Roses," "The Music Man," "Lawrence of Arabia" and "The Manchurian Candidate," among others.

Best Actor

For the best actor award the prenomination predictions are Gregory (Mockingbird) Peck,

Allied Troubles Have Roots in Secret Pact

End of Wartime Atomic Energy Cooperation Disappointing to British, French

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trouble with the Allies over nuclear weapons has its roots in a secret agreement made 20 years ago at Quebec between President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill.

Their two nations, along with Canada, were working together to develop the atomic bomb. Their secret, wartime agreement — to exchange information on atomic development — was disclosed after the war.

But the United States ended the agreement after the war and put a lid on information. Years later, in his "Memoirs of the Second World War," Churchill still sounded terribly disappointed.

"I thought the best possible arrangements had been made in the agreement with President Roosevelt."

The British were certainly disappointed. So, later, were the French. Now President Kennedy, for the sake of the cold war alliance, is trying to work some new kind of agreement. He calls it a multinational nuclear force.

That's a vague, mushy-sounding phrase. It's because Kennedy hasn't been clear on what he has in mind. For reasons that follow he probably doesn't know exactly what he can do or how far he can go. Congress has a say in this.

Roosevelt Died
Roosevelt died before the war with Germany ended and was replaced by President Truman. The British replaced Churchill with Prime Minister Attlee before the war with Japan was ended.

ton late in 1945 to discuss a future

atomic partnership. In his memoirs written years later Truman

recalled asking the State Department for an interpretation of the Quebec agreement.

He got this answer and stood by

it: exchange of information on how to manufacture the bomb—

"know-how"—was to be shared

only if necessary to get the bomb

made.

The department said this was understood by Churchill's experts

working on the problem. But when Churchill was writing many years later he still seemed to have a different understanding.

U.S. reasoning went like this:

Although the United States had a monopoly on the bomb in 1945,

the Russians eventually would

learn how to make it. Meanwhile,

this country wasn't going to help

the Russians break the monopoly

by divulging manufacturing

"know-how."

On Aug. 1, 1946 Congress made

the clamp-down on information

doubly sure with the Atomic Energy Act.

As time passed the United States had to balance its concern

about secrecy against its concern

for the NATO alliance since it was

field upon which the strength of the partnership depended.

The United States had to rear-

range its thinking. In 1955 it agreed to exchange some infor-

1957, exploded a nuclear device of their own. The Russians by then had a bomb of their own.

In 1958 Congress amended the act of 1946, allowing the President

to give allies information on weapons and materials but not weapons or parts of weapons. This could be done only when an ally

had made "substantial" progress

in the development of atomic weapons. It gives a president

room for choosing.

So far Britain has qualified, but not France, although France has had its own atomic explosions.

They are the only two who have made what might be considered

substantial progress.

French President de Gaulle

wants to make his own nuclear force.

He has this kind of concern, involving the most important restriction of all in the law Congress passed: no matter where

American nuclear weapons are placed—say in Europe—the United States must not turn control of them over to anyone else. Thus

the United States alone can say

when, or if, a weapon is to be fired.

French Fear

This leaves De Gaulle with the fear—and who can say this country would not feel the same if the positions were reversed—that in some crisis the United States, for its own reasons, might not be willing to pull the trigger to back up its allies.

Now Kennedy has offered Britain — and France, too, although

France turned him down — missiles for which she will have to make her own warheads.

Still unanswered because Kenedy as of now probably doesn't know the answer is this question:

What good are the missiles to the allies if they don't have warheads to put on them. He can't give them the warheads unless

Congress changes the law, so what does it add up to? Nobody seems to know.

Union High School Addition Dedicated

Weyauwega District Residents View Structure at Open House

WEYAUWEGA—Theodore Sorenson, state superintendent of school transportation, was guest speaker Sunday afternoon at the dedication of the addition to Union High School, Weyauwega.

Sorenson, in his speech, "The Second Mile," stated that while we must continue to emphasize the 3 R's—Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic, we must also stress 8 other R's—Rights, Respect and Responsibility. The "first mile," the new addition, Sorenson designated as SMACK, the five factors of the building program. SMACK stands for site, money, architect, contractor and the kickers or knockers, all important elements in any building program.

"The Second Mile" is the work still to be done, for a building alone does not make an education. The needs for today in educating youths for tomorrow include devoted teachers, school administrators who are willing to fight for better education, school personnel who hold to universal education and developing each child to his fullest ability and an enlightened public who will practice sacrifices.

Two Men Selected Chairmen of 1963 Cancer Crusade

Jack Powers, Outagamie County Agricultural Agent, and M. L. A. Sinclair, partner in the Appleton

Powers Sinclair

Pharmacy, have been selected to head the 1963 Cancer Crusade. Dr. Frank Wright, president of the Outagamie County Unit of the Cancer Society, has announced.

Powers was rural chairman for the crusade in 1961-62. He is an assistant professor at the University of Wisconsin. He won the Appleton Jaycees distinguished service award in 1958.

4-H Leaders to Tour Furniture Section of Store

WAUPACA — Twenty-one Waupaca County 4-H leaders are scheduled to tour the furniture, carpeting and china ware departments at the H. C. Prange Co. store, Appleton, Tuesday, with Miss Donna Ruhland, county home agent.

Arrangements for the tour were completed with Kenneth Abraham, manager of the interior decorating department.

The tour is part of the leader training project with emphasis on learning about the construction characteristics of furniture, care of carpeting and selection of china in relation to color line of design and in relation to other dinner service.

Set Theft Trial Of Hilbert Man

CHILTON — A Calumet County court trial on charges of theft and driving after revocation against Richard Lee, 21, route 2, Hilbert, has been set for 10 a.m. March 7 by Judge D. H. Sebores.

Lee was arrested Thursday morning by Sheriff C. J. Koszowski on a warrant issued by District Atty. F. H. Schumacher. He pleaded innocent when arraigned and has been released from jail under $500 bond.

The theft charge stems from an incident which allegedly occurred March 15 in Stockbridge. Lee is accused of taking a tire and a jack from the trunk of a car owned by Robert Emswiler about 3:30 a.m.

La Crosse Physician Re-elected Chairman Of Medical Council

MADISON (AP)—Dr. James C. Fox of La Crosse was re-elected chairman of the State Medical Society's council Sunday. The term will be his fifth as head of the policy making body.

Also re-elected were Drs. John Bell, Marinette, vice chairman; F. L. Weston, Madison, treasurer; H. Kent Toney, T. T. Sprague and E. J. Nordby, all of Madison, assistant treasurers, and D. N. Goldstein of Kenosha, editorial director for the Wisconsin Medical Journal.

Three Injured In 3-Car Crash

One in Serious Condition With Cuts, Leg Fracture

NEENAH — An 18-year-old Neenah youth was seriously hurt and two other Neenah men were reported in satisfactory condition following an accident at S. Commercial Street and Cecil Street at 12:45 a.m. Saturday.

John Erdman, 312 E. Franklin Ave., has multiple lacerations and contusions and a fractured right leg. He was being treated for shock also.

Erdman was a passenger in an auto driven by Donald L. Larson, 18, 740 Oak St., Neenah, which collided with the auto driven by Shirden W. Wiatrowski, 30, 1321 Henry St., Neenah, police report.

Larson has facial lacerations. Wiatrowski has multiple lacerations. Police said Wiatrowski had 42 stitches taken in his face.

Police said Larson was traveling south on S. Commercial Street when his auto collided with the auto driven by Wiatrowski, which was traveling north on S. Commercial Street and was turning left into a parking lot.

Also damaged in the accident was a parked auto driven by William D. Hittenmiller, 107 E. North Water St., Neenah.

942 Enrolled in Extension Courses Offered by OSC

OSHKOSH — Enrollments in Oshkosh State College extension courses for the spring semester stand at 942, according to L. O. Tetzlaff, college registrar.

The figure brings the total extension course enrollment for the school year to 2,003.

Of the enrollments this term, 613 are in courses being offered in 15 college area cities and 329 are in on-campus Saturday morning classes.

Off-campus courses are being offered at Coleman, Gillett, Hartford, Hortonville, Juneau, Kaukauna, Kewaunee, Markesan, Menasha, Preble, Sheboygan Falls, Sturgeon Bay, Waupun, Winnebago and Appleton.

The OSC extension program is a self-supporting one, according to Prof. Tetzlaff. Enrollment fees cover all expenses.

Tank Truck Skids, Rolls

Part of Huge Oil Cargo Spills Onto Highway at Chilton

CHILTON — A semi-tanker truck carrying more than 5,000 gallons of oil, was demolished when it rolled three times after going out of control on State 57 about four miles north of here at 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

The driver, Howard J. Schultz, 26, Wausau, told Calumet County police the truck's windshield was covered with steam and water when the radiator broke burst. The northbound truck crossed the highway, traveled about 550 feet on the left shoulder, before skidding broadside and rolling for 120 feet.

The wreckage partially blocked the highway's west lane but traffic was light when the scene was being cleared, police said. Schultz escaped with bruises on both legs. Only a small quantity of the cargo escaped but a county highway department crew was called to spread sand on an oil-covered portion of the highway.

Mental Health Meeting Set At Waupaca

WAUPACA — An informational meeting on mental health is scheduled at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of Central Grade School in conjunction with the annual business session of the Waupaca Community Chest.

John Gusmer, president, said the program was planned because of the growing interest in mental stability under the speeded up pressures of the mechanized world.

The speaker will be John Peckarek, Wisconsin Rapids, state mental health consultant. Peckarek has agreed to hold a series of meetings in the Waupaca area if enough people are interested in the subject.

The topic of his talk will be "Is Mental Illness in Your Future." He will stress the seriousness of the mental illness problem.

Directors whose terms expire are Mr. Don Fallgatter, Dr. Kenneth Haman, Frank W. Egan, Mrs. Austin C. Trull, Mrs. Eugene Schweitzer and Mrs. Edward Hart.

Appleton Doctor Named President Of Psychiatrists

Dr. Keith Keane, Appleton, will take office as president of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Association in May. He has served as president-elect for the past year.

At its 1963 annual meeting at Lake Delton, the association adopted a resolution urging all people of Wisconsin and the state legislature to support the research and training program of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute.

The institute was established as a department of the University of Wisconsin by the state legislature in 1915, and was reactivated in 1961, after several years of inactivity, as a result of a recommendation by the Governor's Mental Health Advisory Committee. The institute currently is seeking funds for a modern psychiatric building at an estimated cost of $4 million.

Skating, Skiing Climax Waupaca Winter Carnival

Crowning Princess "Noweeta" was one of the highlights of the Waupaca Winter Carnival which concluded Sunday afternoon at the ski club. The princess is Ardye Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Daniels, King. She was crowned by Miss Maddy Horn, Oshkosh, former United States Olympic skater and national and international champion. (Post-Crescent Photo)

WAUPACA — Emphasis was on skating and skiing Saturday and Sunday when Waupaca staged its first annual winter carnival at Shadow Lake and the Chain O' Lakes Ski Club.

Concluding the festivities and events was Waupaca's first presentation of a giant slalom Sunday afternoon at the ski club. About 47 skiers took part in the run.

Highlighting the slalom were the activities of a New London father-son combination. Claire Baehman won first place in Class Three with two rides totalling 54 seconds. His son, Greg, 8, won first place in Class One. Greg's time for the two rides was 6. seconds.

First place in Class Two ended in a tie with Randy Yerigan, Waupaca, and Tim Foley, Wisconsin Rapids, each totalling 58 seconds. In a one-event play-off, Yerigan won the first place trophy with a ride in 28 seconds while Foley went the distance in 29.2 seconds.

Other places in the Class Three event, for skiers up to 12 years of age, were Danny Peterson, Waupaca, 67 seconds; Beth Formiller, Green Lake, 68 seconds; Terry Jorgenson, Waupaca, 71 seconds, and George Hemmingson, Waupaca, 72 seconds.

Other top riders in Class Two are Billy Carver, Green Lake, 63 seconds; Charles Lewis, Waupaca, 64 seconds; Jay Diley, Waupaca, placed third with 59 seconds.

Other winners in Class One are Larry Okray, Stevens Point, 57 seconds; Wayne Styles, Weyauwega, 57.5 seconds; Jerry Abitz, Waupaca, 61 seconds and Fritz Katowski, Stevens Point, 61.5 seconds.

Merl Mangert, chairman of the snow princess contest, announced Ardye Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Daniels, King, as the winner before the start of the slalom. She is a freshman at Stevens Point State College and is majoring in primary education.

Runner-up in the contest was Donna Jorgensen, who represented the Town of Farmington. Others in the first four were Judy Paulson, representing the Town of Waupaca, and Karen Jenkins, representing the Waupaca Speed Skating Club.

Others in the contest were Judy Erickson, Judy Mittlestead, Mary Lou Braatz, DeeDee Peterson, Cindy Wilson, Eileen Ecklund and Patti Vaux.

Princess "Noweeta" was crowned by Miss Maddy Horn, Oshkosh, one of Wisconsin's most famous speed skaters. She represented the United States twice in the Olympics and won many national and international titles as well as lesser events.

Miss Daniels received a complete skiing outfit from skis to boots.

Forest Junction Civic Group Plans Revision of Map

FOREST JUNCTION — Revision of a map of the unincorporated village attached to Calumet County's zoning ordinance of 1948 is being undertaken by a civic league here after a consultation Thursday evening with Orrin W. Meyer, secretary-treasurer of the county park commission which administers the ordinance.

Adoption of the county zoning ordinance for the Town of Brillion by the town board of supervisors was authorized by the electors in a township referendum in the general election last November. The board of supervisors has not yet acted.

The present Forest Junction is the union of two original plats of 1873, an 80-acre tract on the east side known as the Village of Baldwin after George Baldwin who created the plat, and a 30-acre tract on the west side platified by Mrs. Charlotte A. Quentin as the Village of Forest. August Franke's addition was platted in 1895.

The village sprang into existence around a railroad crossing and a saw-mill with little or no regard for an orderly arrangement into residential, recreational, agricultural, commercial and industrial districts now called for by the county ordinance. Considerable non-conforming use will have to be included in the mapping now being undertaken.

'History of Radio' Topic for Society

WAUPACA — Tom Karavakis, manager of WDX radio station here, will speak on the history of radio broadcasting at 8 p.m. today at a meeting of the Waupaca Historical Society at the library.

Allen Scott, club president, said Karavakis also will exhibit some of the early equipment used in radio broadcasting.

Giant Slalom Has 47 Participants With New London Pair Taking 1st in Race at Chain O'Lakes Club

Miss Daniels received a complete skiing outfit from skis to boots.

The group named a committee of five to assemble and make available information on the work and efforts of the three commissions and to indicate in what respects each commission might supplement the efforts of the other commissions.

Named to the committee are V. A. Kopitzke, chairman of the education committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission; Walter Rasmussen of the Appleton Planning Commission; Ralph Bergman, director of planning in Green Bay, Dr. C. D. Goff, associate professor of political science at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, and Eugene Franchetti, Planning Director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Among the suggestions made at the meeting to be studied by this committee are the preparation of visual aids on points of interest in the several planning areas and brochures on the organization and development of the plans of each of the commissions. The committee will report to the regional planning commissions at a future date.

Historical Group Heads Re-elected

For the 15th consecutive year, Emil A. Walther was elected president of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical Society, Sarto Hallier, secretary and treasurer for 35 years, also was re-elected to office.

The organization held its 91st annual meeting Friday at the Appleton Elks Club, following a traditional pattern set by earlier pioneer societies back in Appleton village days. The day-long gathering was highlighted by business sessions in the morning, a noon dinner and afternoon program.

Other officers for 1963 include Ray Dohr, first vice president; William J. Konrad Jr., second vice president, and William F. Wolf, 32-year member of the organization, director, of historical research.

New directors elected to serve three-year terms are H. H. Holm, M. J. Fose, A. F. Zuehlke, all of Appleton, and Joseph Frommer, Kaukauna.

Debris From Missing Ship Still Washing Ashore in Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Debris from the Marine Sulphur Queen is still washing ashore along the southern Florida Atlantic Coast. Investigators say the evidence has not led to any conclusion about the fate of the freighter or the 39 men aboard.

Two more life jackets were discovered Sunday on a Fort Lauderdale beach, bringing to 11 the number of remnants found since Thursday.

Clintonville Commandery No. 44, Knights Templar, was constituted May 6, 1921.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Clintonville Commandery provided cards and entertainment for the ladies of the Commanderymen, both afternoon and evening.

Officers of the auxiliary are Mrs. Marvin A. Baker, Marion, president; Mrs. Emory S. Rogers, Marion, vice president, and Mrs. David O. Blissett, New London, secretary and treasurer.

Menasha Woman Fourth in Met's Regional Test

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A 26-year-old mother of three won the top award today in regional auditions for the Metropolitan Opera.

She is Mrs. Carol Stuart of Edina, a Minneapolis suburb. Mrs. Stuart, a lyric soprano, receives a $300 award and a trip to New York to compete in the national semifinal auditions March 27.

Fourth award of $100 went to Mrs. Mary Ann Leitzke, Menasha, Wis., a mezzo contralto and mother of three.

Second place went to Robert D. Gnodde, 26, director of publications for Simpson College at Indianola, Iowa. A baritone, Gnodde receives $200.

Third place went to Raquel Montalvo, 29, Pewaukee, Wis., a lyric soprano. Mrs. Montalvo, married and mother of an 18-old girl, receives $100.

Twelve contestants from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota and Manitoba competed.

Conservation Makes Some New Progress In Waupaca County

Report Notes Little Change in Basic Problems Recorded in 1961

WAUPACA — Conservation is making some progress in the over-land sand blankets continues to be a problem, and it is anticipated that as the recreational uses of the water areas increases, these problems will increase proportionately, it said.

The conservation department contends wind erosion on light soils continues to be the major soil erosion problem. This was particularly noticeable during the latter months of the year due to light snow cover, said the report.

Conservation department personnel claim marshland drainage is a minor problem in the county.

Under roadside and farm fence hedgerow maintenance, they reported there is a great deal of cover loss, because highway crews continue to cut brush on the town, county and state roads.

They said destructive cutting of timber is the major forestry problem in the county.

There were 21 forest fires burning 165 acres. Increased growth and additional plantings have increased crown fire hazards within the county.

Under tree diseases and insect damage, the report said, white pine weevil continues to be the major insect problem. Root collar weevil presents a problem in plantations, containing a scotch pine. The diseases are of no major consequence.

Under new road construction, it was noted County A, C, H, and G were widened during the year.

The major problem is the increasing number of sand blankets on lakes throughout the county, particularly on the Chain O'Lakes, said the report. There also is some loss due to filling for lots on the Wolf River. Pasturing of streambanks by cattle continues to destroy banks and accelerate stream silting.

They reported the level of the streams seems to be increasing rather than decreasing.

Some new irrigation wells have been dug, but there are no new instances of use of streams or lakes for irrigation.

There were no stream straightening, ditching or channel course changing.

A total of 721,850 trees obtained from state nurseries were planted in the county. Private land owners established 363 acres of forest plantation and did timber stand improvement on 84 acres.

Harvests under improved management were carried out on 334 acres, resulting in a harvest of 1,576 cords and 70,000 board feet.

Compiling the report were Lloyd Lacasse, county forester; Dan Foiz, district fish manager; Sidney Miller, forest ranger; Rex Oatman, warden; Jerry Rieckhoff, Oshkosh, district game manager, and Robert Heding, Oshkosh, habitat manager.

Alum Restored To Long-Lost School Ring

CHILTON — A Chilton High School alumnus and his long-lost class ring were reunited this week.

The ring's finder, Ed Rozman, 153 School St., Chilton, turned the ring over to school officials who found the owner. Rozman explained that he found the ring some time ago, tossed it into a box of trinkets and forgot about it. Recently he came across the ring and gave it to Mrs. Mary Ann Freund, high school stenographer, who did a neat sleuthing job.

Mrs. Freund was able to define the initials, G.S.W., engraved in the ring and the graduation year of 1939. Taking a 1939 high school annual, she easily traced it to Gerald S. Winch, 120 Pennsylvania Ave.

Winch said he lost the ring 16 years ago. It is still in excellent condition.

OSC Plans Class for Teachers of Retarded

MADISON — Because school administrators in the Fox River Valley have found it difficult to recruit qualified teachers for their special classes, Wisconsin State College at Oshkosh will offer work leading to the certification of teachers of mentally retarded.

The board of regents of the state college system, authorizing the curriculum expansion, said the work would be offered during the summer sessions during the next few years, but that it is expected to be developed into a full-scale major.

Saddle Club to Help With 4-H Horse Training Project

WAUPACA — Members of the Chain O'Lakes Saddle Club will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, March 4, with 4-H club horse project leaders at the courthouse to complete plans for a series of training meetings for county 4-H members. This is the second year the club has volunteered its services to help train 4-H club members in horsemanship.

Representing the 4-H clubs at a planning meeting were E. G. Hoyer, county 4-H agent; Oliver Larson, Donald Long and Leo Beyer, Manawa. Representing the saddle club were Harold Smith and James Jorgenson, Clintonville; Gary Stiebs, Ogdensburg and LaVern Mumbroe, Waupaca.

The training program will consist of training a horse for first year members, judging breeding and reputation of first year work for second year members, and raising a colt for third year members.

The saddle club is planning to show a series of movies to its members and guests at future meetings to keep abreast with techniques, according to Roger Topping, club publicity chairman.

Tentative plans have been completed by the club to sponsor a public dance.

Shiocton High To Participate In Government

SHIOCTON — Senior students at Shiocton High School are in the process of electing representatives to attend the Outagamie County Government day on March 12 at the court house. The event is sponsored by the American Legion.

Nomination papers will be distributed, the campaign will follow and voting will take place at the school March 5. Offices to be filled are sheriff, surveyor, registrar of deeds, clerk, clerk of courts, superintendent of schools, coroner, treasurer and supervisor.

Perry Pierre, student council president, is in charge of the election with Ralph Ott adviser.

Brillion Jaycees Plan Meeting of District

BRILLION — Tentative plans for the Lake Shore District Quarterly meeting were made at the Thursday evening meeting of the Brillion Jaycees. The event will take place April 25 at the Brillion Hotel. The committee in charge of arrangements is made up of Don Wordell, Eldore Buboltz, Merrill Vanderhoof and Eugene Buboltz.

The All-Sports Banquet was discussed and a tentative date of April 23 was set. Everett Schwabbe is general chairman. Serving on the committee are Mel Thorp, Harland Rau and Eugene Buboltz.

A booklet for all members is being compiled by Mel Thorp and Don Emmmer. It will include the history of the club, aims, purposes and other information of interest to members.

Moose District Five Will Meet on Monday

CLINTONVILLE — District Five, Loyal Order of Moose, will meet Monday night at Green Bay.

Lloyd Handschke of the Clintonville Moose lodge is vice president of District Five, which is composed of lodges from Green Bay, Kaukauna, Appleton and Clintonville.

A business meeting will be conducted and the traveling trophy awarded.

Gallery of Arts

Area Artists Turn to Crafts for Expression

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The face of the Fox Cities art world as reflected in the Appleton Gallery of Arts' third annual mid-winter exhibit at Castle Hall this week seems to be turning away from the graphics arts in favor of the crafts.

Nearly a third of the exhibitors have directed their efforts away from the palette and brush. The extraordinary exhibit of pottery by guest exhibitor Al Bennett of the Appleton school system enhances this feeling of change.

Not only do the craft exhibits provide variety to the show, they represent the bulk of the quality of the show. In addition they demonstrate a direction in which some of the area's artists are reaching out in their attempt to plumb the possibilities of expression.

Perhaps typical of this latter is the work of Robert Baeten, who has won some recognition as a painter. In this show Baeten displays a commendable first attempt at woodblock printing and three fine pieces of sculpture.

Great Response

Dorothy Christen brings the finest sense of humor to the show in three unusual collages, or as she calls them "felt and burlap plaques." Her "All Aboard, Noah's Ark" is the most successful of the three. She mounts pieces of fabric and sequins on burlap. Her Ark plaque has the additional charm of wearing real or simulated fur on the animals.

The Gallery's own pottery exhibition is mounted by Mrs. Lillian Embrey and Mrs. Marguerite Russell, a collection of good looking, useful pieces.

Fred Kaemmerer, the exhibit chairman, must share a bow with the artists for his part in the new look of the show. His arrangement of the display opens the restricted, temporary gallery to its maximum use.

Sunday's opening reception drew the greatest response in the mid-winter's history. The gallery will be open from 8 to 9 p.m. each day of this week and will close at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Service Developed Because Buyer Has Individual Tastes

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The couple wanting professional help in fitting out its home hasn't far to look today. Builders, manufacturers, retail stores, all are eagerly catering to the customer's own taste, or offer to upgrade it in his home, old or new.

In a number of localities the construction industry is going in for combinations. Builders, architects, interior decorators, furniture suppliers are offering professional advice as a unit.

Some of the nation's best known stores have offered similar service for generations. But in the last decade this move has spread widely. One reason is that more customers demand it. Either their own taste is improving, or keeping up with the Joneses calls for this outside aid. Another reason is that many times as many persons now can afford such service as could at the end of World War II.

Antique Prices

Perhaps thanks to this prices of antiques have risen smartly. Some 14,000 dealers in them in the nation are doing a better than $150 million a year business. And for persons who want to flout the home without permanent outlay rental services deal in art music records and tape recordings.

Upgrading has moved as beyond the home into such fields as office furniture and decor and even to giving factory machinery and walls a more aesthetic appearance.

Department stores and quality shops have been in the forefront of the effort to raise taste—and to sell taste. Some of the stores that have worked that side of the street for many years include, to name just a few, Marshall Field in Chicago, Altman's and Lord & Taylor in New York, John Wanamaker in Philadelphia and the New York suburbs.

Bonwit Teller in New York or gamized a Consumer Advisory Board of eight women social leaders. Bamberger's in Newark, N. J. set up a Consumer Advisory Committee on which club women served.

Rich's, Inc., in Atlanta, Lord & Taylor and Bloomingdale's in New York have conducted contests for architects. Macy's John Wanamaker and H. S. Pogue in Cincinnati are among those constructing full size homes of various types. Well-staffed speakers' bureaus have been maintained by Bamberger's, J. L. Hudson's in Detroit and L. S. Ayres in Indianapolis among others.

Service Growing

A stable of interior decorators to find for customers what they want or to steer them toward what they may only vaguely know they want is found in many stores across the land. This service is growing. Leonard's in Fort Worth, Tex., enlarged its budget to train in home consultants. J. C. Penney announced a new in-home selling and consulting service for its Orlando, Fla. store. Hager's department store in Lancaster, Pa., stressed decorating skills in matching floor coverings to draperies, wallpaper and furniture. Sears, Roebuck is employing designers to improve both its expensive and economical models of many types of goods, and has turned to merchandising works of art.

Retailers and manufacturers are spreading out ever further in to cultural fields. The Dallas Symphony Orchestra played at the Dallas Market Center for buyers at the home furnishings market. In New York the National Design Center houses many exhibits of manufacturers and decorators putting on the soft sell for both home owners and industrial purchasing agents. Also in New York the I. Miller Shoe Co. displays both paintings and shoes at its spectacularly designed Fifth Avenue store.

Jersey Standard Oil this year is giving a soft sell over television in its Festival of Performing Arts after successful showing in other years of the Play of the Week.

Official Name Change For Association

The name of the Fox Valley Mental Health Association has been officially changed to the Outagamie County Mental Health Association.

The name change is one step in the group's move for reaffiliation with the Wisconsin Mental Health Association and the National Mental Health Association. According to Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr., president, the new name more accurately signifies the group, since it serves Outagamie County.

Little Symphony Shows Diversity, Flexibility

BY DON VORPAHL

Last night's concert by the Lawrence Little Symphony in Harper Hall concerned a pleasant cross-section of music from the late Baroque, played to a near-capacity audience.

This was the group's first public appearance this season, and it unveiled a number of solo performers from faculty and student ranks.

Though the evening's literature was almost strictly from Italian sources of the 18th century, it was diverse and colorful, made more so through the bold sounds created as the little orchestra changed instrumental resources.

This is perhaps the group's happiest quality. They are flexible, in spite of their small size, sometimes playing with strings alone, or other times with the additions of harpsichord, oboes, horns, or all of these. As they change instrumentation, the proportionate size of each addition gives their sound considerable new character, making them easily adaptable to a broad amount of literature. Presumably this would include music from outside the Baroque, as well.

Ease in Playing

Flute soloist Patricia Mann, a Lawrence instructor in music, was without a doubt, the program's shining light. Her lovely Powell instrument, and the ease of her playing, especially in the first two movements of her Pergolesi "G" Major Concerto, would have satisfied us as a program's worth. Conductor Kenneth Byler and a reduced number of strings made her task fairly easy, too, as they provided the night's best background, a lighter sound than they found otherwise.

Especially her Adagio movement caught our taste, probably because of the velvet smooth tone of her instrument, and this is not to deny that what a player puts into his instrument comes out as good or bad sound—she put in plenty of something worthwhile.

Musical Gauntlet

Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto in B flat major" for orchestra and violin and cello soloists threw down a musical gauntlet to performers Byler and Frances Clarke Rehl. The work was as much a challenge as we can imagine, and while they handled it courageously, its techniques were just too cruel to permit really fluid translation. Most successful were their lively dynamic contrasts, certainly one of the heart warming things about music of this period.

In France's co. Geminiani's "Concerto Grosso in G minor" student soloists Robert Kadar, Elizabeth Zethmayr, Virginia Melin, and David Parkinson played agreeably.

For real diversion the orchestra found its way to music for Handel and an opening symphony of Boyce, ostensibly English composers. In both were more tonal contrasts than in the Italian things, primarily by virtue of horn and oboe additions. Oboists Ruth Dahlke and Phyllis Singleton were doubtless the strongest instrumental section in the orchestra, pulling off several stylish passages in each work. Behind them, the broad sound of the Lawrence orchestra was better suited than in the continental composers' works.

Francis Scholtz Gives Music Workshop

Francis Scholtz of Appleton conducted a workshop on "An Integrated Music Program in the Parish" Saturday for the Milwaukee Unit of the National Catholic Music Educators Association. Scholtz is band director and head of the music department at Xavier High School, and head of the St. Joseph Parish music program, including the school music department and the church choir. He started the workshop by conducting a choir of 350 children at the mass in the Cathedral in Milwaukee.

New Supermarket Won't Alter Chair Firm Operations

Appleton Chair Corp. has no intention of changing its operations on W. Spencer Street because of the development of a shopping center on the S. Outagamie Street side of the chair corporation's property.

That was the statement of Joseph A. Sampson, vice president of Appleton Chair Corp., made today in answer to rumors. The chair corporation has an efficient operation going and employs 54 people, Sampson said. The shopping center will utilize property that has been unused for over 50 years, Sampson noted.

The shopping center is scheduled to contain a Piggly Wiggly supermarket, variety store, drug store, liquor store, laundromat, barber shop, beauty shop and service station. Lloyd Berken, manager of the center, said the supermarket is expected to open by Sept. 1 and perhaps four or five other units will be under construction by the end of the year.

Appleton Doctor To Check Hebard

Psychiatrists Named to Conduct Mental Examination of Slayer

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Two psychiatrists were named today by Judge James W. Byers to examine Harry R. (Butch) Hebard, 16, to determine whether he is mentally competent to stand trial in the shooting deaths of five members of his family.

They are Dr. Denton O. Engstrom, Appleton, and Dr. Edward E. Houfek, Sheboygan. The judge said he would set no time limit for filing written reports by the doctors on the mental condition of Harry, who has admitted the shooting deaths last Monday of his father, Jack, 37, his stepmother, Joyce, 35, his stepbrother, John, 15, and his twin sisters, Judy and Janet, 11.

The young man, who is being held without bail in the Brown County jail on four first degree murder counts, has expressed some remorse over his father's death, according to Dist. Atty. Robert W. Warren. No single specific cause was listed by the boy for his action, other than a feeling that he was left out of the family circle.

In Appleton Thursday

Hebard, a junior at West High School, will be taken from jail under guard for consultation and interviews with the court-appointed psychiatrists.

Hebard will be taken to Appleton Thursday afternoon for a consultation with Dr. Engstrom, and to Sheboygan next Monday for an examination by tests last Wednesday, two days after the slayings.

The mental tests were ordered in County Court Branch 2 after a request by Robert J. Parins, court appointed attorney for Hebard. The lawyer told the court Thursday, "I have certain misgivings about his mental condition both now and at the time of the crime."

A medical finding that Hebard is not capable of co-operating in his own defense could result in an indefinite postponement of trial on murder charges. The court probably then would order him confined to Central State Hospital for the criminally insane, Waupun.

Other Possibilities

If the hospital superintendent later certified that Hebard was recovered, the court would be notified and Hebard would be remanded to custody here for further court proceedings.

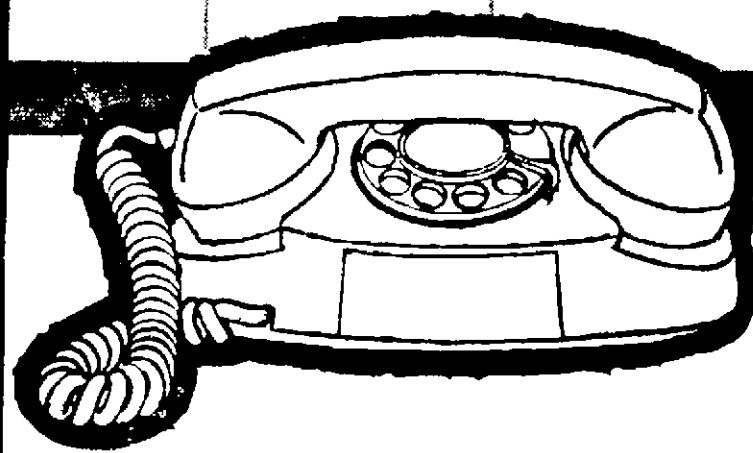

If the Hebard case does come to trial, the youth faces a possible sentence of life imprisonment on each of four counts of premeditated murder with parole a possibility after 12 years.

Warren had called in Dr. Charles A. Wunsch, a Green Bay psychiatrist, for a 50-minute interview with Hebard after he was arrested Tuesday noon. The young man also had been brought by his parents to a psychiatric office here 12 days before the slayings. He received an initial interview by a psychologist Feb. 6 and had been scheduled to take after the slayings.

A Pause for a New Look

Perhaps it took a man as old as Chancellor Adenauer who has seen so many conflicts, "insoluble" disagreements and setbacks in human progress to look without despair upon France's unilateral blocking of Britain's entrance into the Common Market.

Speaking to the Bundestag this month, Adenauer said that "without friendship between France and Germany, Europe cannot come into being. Co-operation between the two nations—let me place particular emphasis upon this—is no substitute for European integration." Among the requirements for a really united Europe, said Adenauer, are that "Great Britain's accession to the E.E.C. be made possible" but at the same time "our relationship with the United States remains the vital factor for our security."

France's economic health competes with De Gaulle's success in regaining stability in his nation and settling the Algerian conflict as the major reasons why he has opposed British membership in the Common Market. But Walter Lippmann points out that De Gaulle's determination that active aggression from the Soviet Union is no longer a major European threat also is highly instrumental. De Gaulle, unlike his idealistic contemporaries in the French Revolution, is a Frenchman first and a man second. Perhaps as the head of a state this is not an immoral attitude. Mr. Churchill was of the same mold.

But West Germany, with its greatest city within the Communist borders, is not yet ready to decide that there is little or no danger from Russia. And perhaps because of the two disastrous defeats Germany received in the two World Wars, Adenauer and apparently the leaders in Germany who will follow him to power, are ardent advocates of Europe. "We have experienced some disappointments on our road to Europe; but we have not allowed ourselves to be discouraged in the past. . . I assure you that we shall continue to work for the European cause, in spite of all obstacles and in spite of all difficulties. . ."

Unless De Gaulle is wrong and Russia does launch a massive attack against Europe, the ideal of a united Europe is coming. But the pause at this point does give the opportunity for everyone involved, including United States leaders, to reappraise the whole European situation, the structure of NATO and the European Economic Community. A united Europe will not solve all problems of either economic health or international security. It will present some vital problems of its own particularly to those nations outside its boundaries. This is especially true of the United States, and the current dispute gives us more time to study the problems ahead and what we are going to do about them.

Purchased vs. Donated Blood

The extension of coverage under hospital insurance to additional expenses of illness or accident is generally applauded. But a recent trend to include payment for blood by more and more insurance companies has caused enough concern so that it has become the subject of a bill before the legislature which would prevent insurance companies paying for blood itself.

The reason is that various organizations active in the supplying of blood on a volunteer basis have found that such insurance discourages people from donating blood.

If a person knows that his insurance will cover the cost of any blood he may need he is less likely to donate blood or to persuade members of his family or friends to do so. And it is claimed that the supply of blood could be seriously affected. It might come to the point where insurance would pay for the blood but there would not be blood available to purchase.

Blood donations on a volunteer basis supply most of the blood needs of the country at present. The Red Cross program alone supplies half of the nation's needs. In other communities like Appleton and Milwaukee community blood programs operate in a similar manner.

Support for the bill at a hearing in Madison last week came from labor, hospitals, blood banks, the Red Cross and others.

George Hall, secretary-treasurer of the State AFL-CIO, testified that wherever the blood payment provision was included in the insurance contract of workers at a plant, voluntary donors decreased. "Then you have to go out and buy blood," he said. "The blood you get in this way is mostly from wines."

It should be explained that the bill deals with insurance payments for the blood itself as distinguished from charges made by hospitals for laboratory work and administration of transfusions. There is no objection to insurance coverage of these charges.

The objections raised to the bill at the hearing were that it would be difficult to enforce. But the extreme importance of maintaining our blood supply in this country for both normal and emergency needs should dictate the need for such a bill. If insurance companies and the state insurance department feel the bill is unenforceable as is, they should come up with changes which will make it practical.

Brandt's Victory Gratifying

The impressive victory scored by Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin in the first elections held in that city since the Communists built the Berlin Wall are very gratifying to the United States.

The Socialist mayor received a smashing vote of confidence. His party won 89 of the 140 seats in the city's new Parliament. They had 77 before. The Communist party's share of the popular vote fell from 1.9 to 1.3 per cent.

Brandt's landslide was attributed to his unwavering firmness in the face of the Communist threat. His chief campaign promise was to protect the city with the help of the three Western occupation powers, the U.S., Britain and France.

The results leave little doubt where the loyalties of the people of West Berlin lie.

Erosion of Sovereignty

The future promises a greater surrender of sovereignty by the nations of the world. That's the point Adlai Stevenson, our ambassador to the United Nations, made in an interview recently. But Stevenson doesn't mean a dramatic moment of surrender. It's a process, he says, that is going on and has been going on for some time.

Every treaty, every alliance, every international agreement means some sacrifice of sovereignty. Many of these treaties of the past have been entered into as an expedient of the moment, but history shows that the loss of sovereignty is very seldom reversible. The expedient most often becomes the rule.

Stevenson also points out that the surrender of sovereignty is not restricted to world politics between nations. In the United States, states surrender sovereignty to the federal government, counties to the states and municipalities to the counties. Another story on the following page describes how management is trying to reverse its surrender of sovereignty to labor in the struggle over the union shop.

Nothing sinister should be read into this erosion of individual action. At the moment of surrender there was good and compelling reason for the action. Our shrinking world has demanded and will demand greater interdependence, less self-centered prerogatives.

An awareness, however, is not out of place. A solution demanding a loss of sovereign control, whether it's international or individual, should be carefully examined to see if the porridge offered is really worth the birthright that it is going to cost.

Bold Attempt to Destroy Crescent

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 26, 1963.

At about half past nine o'clock Tuesday night (Feb. 24), a two-story building on the corner of Oneida and Market Streets, (now Soldiers Square) occupied by the Crescent office, was discovered to be on fire and the flames rapidly spreading.

The fire appeared to originate at the floor, simultaneously on either side, directly opposite the chimney, which is located a little back of the center of the building. It worked its way up the ceilings, nearly to the roof, and under the second floor, and broke out on both sides.

The persons first in the office at that time were a man and a woman, who were on the floor, and the flames were rapidly communicating to pile of white paper.

The flames were smothered with paper until water arrived. On the south side the fire did not break out until near the second floor. Fortunately the flames were extinguished and the building saved without much damage. In the hasty removal of cases of type, two or three were turned bottom side up on the sidewalk, which did not add materially to the value of the forms to which they belonged. In attempting to move the press, it was more or less damaged. The files, books and papers were saved.

Ryan and Bros. loss is estimated at between $300 and $400. Damage to the building was not over $100. The whole loss is covered by insurance.

Circumstances indicate that the fire was the work of a bold and daring incendiary, though as far as we can learn, it is not an established fact.

The office has been threatened with destruction in consequence of the Senior's course in the discharge of his duties as a City Official, in one instance, the arresting and bringing to trial a person for selling or procuring liquor for an Indian, and in others in suppressing unlicensed whiskey shops and "hell-holes."

The occurrence of the fire in the manner stated would indicate that an attempt had been made to carry into effect that diabolical threat.

The class in our community that boldly set at defiance all law by resisting public officers, by forming mobs to lynch prisoners in the hands of officers of justice, and last, although not least, falter not at incineration must not be allowed to gain the upper hand or their defiance of law and order go unrebuked.

Our loyalty, our moral, religious and civil liberties must be maintained.

Henry Taylor Writes

Sen. Fulbright Consistent; Wrong About Cuba Since Start

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.), fire in his TV eye, tells critics of the Kennedy Cuba policy not to rock the boat. Riddle: What boat?

The Cuba policy is not a policy, it is a disaster. October 22 was America's Munich. The result is like the man in the myth who kept rolling the stone up the hill only to have it roll back on him.

Senator Fulbright's current rebuff to inquiring people typifies exactly the kind of speech-making that has us trapped and allows much manipulated news to function. It takes advantage of the fact that our public's memory is short. Senator Fulbright's tragic wrongheadedness about Cuba was widely publicized at the time of the Bay of Pigs. How many remember it today?

The New Frontier's manipulated-news policy relies on this short-memory phenomenon. President Kennedy depends on it constantly in one new speech after another.

Yet Cuba and this Caribbean base for the subversion of Latin America is not a partisan peril. Democrats, Republicans—what difference does it or their party make?

A Latin America lost to Khrushchev's Reds means that the American fortress is reduced to a political-military-economic blockade.

MAKING MOSTLY LEEWAY
Whatever we are doing in Cuba is making more leeway than headway in bucking the wind. And any politician in either party who says "don't rock the boat" as if we were securely meeting this peril is performing a distraction from our drift onto the shoals.

Senator Fulbright's part in all this is sadly typical. Right about the Nazi menace, but never equally right about the Soviet, he has been dead wrong about Cuba from the very beginning.

He opposed any kind of intervention there unless we could wait in with a group of Latin American states, as if our country could order such a tidy state of affairs. In the absence of "collective security," Fulbright preferred to take his chances on Castro. That is the record.

However, we do not have collective security in Latin America. We have collective insecurity. We are wise to be attached to the principle, as in NATO. But there is no NATO in Latin America and depending on collective security, whenever this involves numerous weak and shaky countries means we flound-

Wisconsin Report

Annual Sessions for Legislature Becoming Standard in Wisconsin

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The evolution of political institutions is sometimes so gradual as to be imperceptible. A current example of the real if not yet nominal alteration in a basic Wisconsin institution is the stretching out of the deliberations of the legislature.

The constitution says that the Wisconsin legislature meets biennially.

That would be the answer if the teacher in the junior high school should ask her students tomorrow morning, and if those students had an appreciation of the constitutional framework of Wisconsin government.

But a more realistic answer might be that the legislature has in effect been meeting each year lately, and that the tendency is overwhelmingly in favor of annual sessions in the future, perhaps one day with a formal acknowledgement of the fact of its practice.

Wyngaard

When this department was founded a couple of decades ago the text-book rule was followed. A man elected to the legislature could expect to spend three or four days weekly in Madison for six or seven months, whereupon there would be an adjournment in a final way—subject only to cancellation by the governor who might summon a special session in the event of some grave and unforeseen emergency.

But shortly thereafter the system was changed, slowly, for reasons that seemed temporary and immediate, but that year after year were repeated until it came to be the accepted thing that the legislature would recess, rather than adjourn, thus permitting it to return to Madison for unfinished business, or new work of its own making, at its own choice and without regard to the constitutional presence of the executive.

The system of recesses originated during the days of the late Gov. Walter S. Goodland, whose crochety personality led to difficulties in legislative relations although nominally he was a member of the Republican party which ruled there. The legislature invented the device of the recess to give itself the opportunity to review his vetoes on issues where there was less than complete trust between the legislative and executive branches.

But the system turned out to be so convenient that it survived the reason that gave it being. The system continued during the regimes of later Republican governors who had good legislative relations and it came into full flower in 1959 when the Republicans found themselves dealing with Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

AND NOW

Today the assumption that the legislature will again fail to adjourn, but will recess instead to a time of its own choosing, and that it may recess and reconvene several times in the struggle with Gov. Reynolds over basic state finance policy, is not challenged anywhere.

Nor is it entirely a matter of political rivalry that motivates the legislative commanders.

In uncertain times the bifurcated session—as Mr. Toepel of the legislative reference service insists upon calling it—gives the law-makers a second chance to review legislation. They can make good mistakes, if the necessity arises. The volume of legislative work today is such that if handled at one sitting it would be a costly interruption of their private affairs of many of the members. Indeed, if the legislature continued to sit without a recess for eight or nine or ten months, there are members in the present body who would be forced to retire.

Thus the state is heading for annual sessions, without the formality of amending its constitutional rules. One day, no doubt, the rules will overtake the realities and the constitution will be amended to provide for annual sessions, as are now had in many comparable states.

What was a plausible and reasonable arrangement when the constitution was written in 1848 doesn't suit the convenience of the men who run the system now, who are dealing with situations totally different from those that prevailed in the simple frontier commonwealth.

Man's Maladjustment Is What Sets Us Apart

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The cult of adjustment in our time urges us to adjust to our environment and our society, as though adjustment were a good thing in itself. But if we are asked to "adjust" to something bad, then the better we adjust, the worse we become.

A persuasive argument might be made, indeed, that man should be called the Maladjusted Animal. It is because man is basically maladjusted that he is unique in nature, and dominates the natural world.

The anteater, the beaver, the bird, the insect—all are perfectly adjusted to their environment and their society. This is why animals have no history, but only a repetitive biological process. The ant is a thousand times more efficient, and better adjusted, than we are—but no ant knows anything more, nor can do anything differently, than his grandfather.

In the introduction to his interesting new Pelican book, "Personal Values in the Modern World," Prof. M.V.C. Jeffries tersely and effectively brings out this point: "If we take efficiency, pertinacity, fortitude, dexterity, as the measures of excellence, we cannot claim any natural pre-eminence for man. It is, in fact, not success but failure that marks man off from the rest of the animal creation."

Harris

Each new plateau reached by the human race has been the result of some maladjustment—and it is no accident that personally maladjusted individuals have usually been responsible for our ascent to a higher level of comprehension and ability. Society has a right to ask that we cooperate for the common good, but not that we acquiesce in the common beliefs.

Will Kennedy Act Against Labor Unions?

Critics Say JFK
Won't Treat Them
As He Did Steel

DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy may think he evened things when he denounced the "irresponsible" strike of the New York newspaper printers, but critics say he is not treating them as he did the steel executives in April. Many critics said he would undertake to give equal treatment to a labor executive.

A national labor union is permitted to use a $17,000,000-a-year strike fund to enable printers to collect total benefits of $115 a week from all sources while other strikes in weaker unions cannot resume work and have to subsist on unemployment compensation of $30 a week.

Every individual has a right to work or refrain from work. But no two individuals have a basic right to conspire together with others to bring about a work stoppage and consequent economic loss to other citizens. The Constitution, under the commerce clause, gives Congress the right to legislate on the subject.

Labor leaders will not like such suggestions, but, if these leaders are realistic, they will perceive that perhaps labor-union dictators have seen their heyday in America. Either the government will step in with restrictive laws or else Congress will be compelled to set up a government-controlled economy. Few will like it, but this formula is the lesser of two evils. For the free-enterprise system cannot survive under labor union monopolies—nor can labor unions be permitted to run the country.

President Kennedy has pointed out the dangers. He said in a prepared statement read at his news conference last week:

Public Tolerance

"The New York newspaper strike is now in its 75th day. The situation has long since passed the point of public tolerance. The essence of free collective bargaining in this country is a sense of responsibility and restraint by both sides, not merely an effort by one side or the other to break those who sit across the bargaining table from them."

"It is clear in the case of the New York newspaper strike that the local of the International Typographical Union and its President, Bertram Powers, insofar as anyone can understand his position, are attempting to impose a settlement which would shut down several newspapers in New York and throw thousands out of work. Collective bargaining has failed. The most intensive mediation has failed. This is a situation which is bad for the union movement all over the country, bad for the newspaper managements and bad for the New York citizens, more than five million of them, who are newspaper readers."

But the President came up with no recommendation to Congress. He just called for "independent determination" on a voluntary basis, and said he could see no alternative. Today existing law doesn't really permit irresponsible bargaining or failure "to bargain in good faith." Yet the Department of Justice apparently is afraid to proceed against a labor monopoly. The administration is beholden to the labor unions for the money that they have contributed in political campaigns and for the votes lined up for candidates of the Democratic party in the elections of 1960 and 1962.

Compulsory arbitration or wage-and-price control under a biased administration would not solve the problem. If, however, court judges, instead of labor or management partisans, were appointed as arbitrators, there might be effective arbitration which, though distasteful, might prove better than the present state of anarchy in the national economy.

Its purpose: to help India finance imports of priority goods. No military aid is involved.

The entire amount will be spent in the United States.

The only larger U.S. loan was for $222.7 million. It was to Britain in 1948. It was for reconstruction, not development.

Part of Tax Cuts May Evaporate

Behind Reduction Are Rising State, Local, Social Security Levies

BY STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising state, local and Social Security taxes may nibble away a large chunk — possibly half — of President Kennedy's proposed tax cuts by the time they would take effect.

The $2.3-billion increase in Social Security rates on Jan. 1 and the $500-million hike in postal rates on Jan. 7 will offset most of the $3.1 billion in individual and corporate tax savings proposed by Kennedy for 1963.

With most of the 47 state legislatures meeting this year considering tax increases totaling perhaps $2.5 billion, much of the $3.2-billion reduction envisaged in the Kennedy program for 1964 would be wiped out.

Not all the legislatures are expected to raise taxes but it's true that a four-year cycle of such action has developed, and 1963 is the year for it. Thirty-three states raised taxes in 1959.

Three factors will be working, tax experts report, to dilute the income-boosting, investment-stimulating and job-creating benefits of Kennedy's net $10.3-billion, three-year tax reduction.

1. Part of the taxpayers' savings would be picked up automatically by the 19 states whose taxpayers can deduct federal income taxes from their taxable income. In these states a cut in federal taxes means more income would be subject to state tax.

2. In 13 states whose tax systems are tied to the federal system, the laws require that citizens compute their taxable income on the same basis as they do for the federal income tax. The increased revenues will eliminate Kennedy seeks — including curtailed personal deductions — would become part of these state systems, unless the state rules are changed. The federal rate cuts would not necessarily be carried over into the state systems, so state tax liability would be increased.

3. Cities and other local governments not only a repressing state legislatures to raise taxes and funnel more revenue to the cities, but many are considering new taxes of their own.

Payroll Tax
Pittsburgh wants the Pennsylvania Legislature to let the city levy a 1 per cent income tax on non-residents who work in Pittsburgh. St. Paul has been weighing a 1 per cent income tax if the Minnesota Legislature does not enact a state sales tax to be shared with the city. Buffalo, N.Y., has asked legislation enabling it to levy a 1 per cent payroll tax.

Only three states raised taxes in 1962—Michigan, Mississippi and New Mexico—but state and local government costs went on rising almost everywhere. In many cases the feasible limit of borrowing has been reached.

A survey made by the Tax Foundation, Inc., New York, a privately supported, non-profit research organization, indicated that by early January revenue-raising proposals were being considered seriously in 33 states.

For reasons not fully explained, the years preceding national elections have become the big ones for state tax-raising.

The Tax Foundation notes that in 1955 32 states enacted new or higher taxes. In 1959 there were 33. The number dipped to 7 in 1960, rose to 24 in 1961, and dwindled to 3 in 1962.

Last year's reprieve, says the foundation, "was by all indications the lull before the storm and not the beginning of any trend."

It predicts: "The storm is likely to break in 1963, when scores of major tax proposals are expected to appear on legislative agendas."

The foundation's survey identified specific proposals totaling about $1.7 billion of new state revenues but dollar estimates were not available, or were available only in part, for 18 of the 33 states.

Since then, governors' budget messages and other state legislative proposals have filled in some gaps. It now appears that the grand total of pending proposals would exceed $2.5 billion, most of which would be felt in calendar 1964.

Such a total would mean offsetting Kennedy's second-year reductions to almost the same consideration as this year's federal tax relief would be offset by the Social Security and postal rate increases.

A good many legislatures almost certainly will reject or reduce the proposed tax increases, or resort to borrowing. Some about the same basis as they do for the federal income tax, may find revenue-boosting reforms, which Kennedy seeks — including curtailed personal deductions — would become part of these state systems, unless the state rules are changed. The federal rate cuts would not necessarily be carried over into the state systems, so state tax liability would be increased.

The 19 states where some or all of the federal tax is deductible from state-taxable income—so that state taxes will rise if federal taxes fall—are:

Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, and Utah.

The states whose tax laws would mean higher state tax collections if the federal rule for deductions is tightened are:

Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota and Vermont.

A similar rule for deductions applies in Alaska and West Virginia, but their taxpayers would come out ahead in the long run. Their state tax is figured as a simple percentage of the federal tax they pay; a federal cut would also mean state tax relief.

The hunt for new revenues is leading state legislatures to consider not only sales and income taxes but a bewildering list of levies covering cigarettes, liquor, gasoline, insurance premiums, corporation income, and use taxes.

The 19 states where some or all of the federal tax is deductible from state-taxable income—so that state taxes will rise if federal taxes fall—are:

Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, and Utah.

The states whose tax laws would mean higher state tax collections if the federal rule for deductions is tightened are:

Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota and Vermont.

A similar rule for deductions applies in Alaska and West Virginia, but their taxpayers would come out ahead in the long run. Their state tax is figured as a simple percentage of the federal tax they pay; a federal cut would also mean state tax relief.

The hunt for new revenues is leading state legislatures to consider not only sales and income taxes but a bewildering list of levies covering cigarettes, liquor, gasoline, insurance premiums, corporation income, and use taxes.

search organization, indicated that by early January revenue-raising proposals were being considered seriously in 33 states.

For reasons not fully explained, the years preceding national elections have become the big ones for state tax-raising.

The Tax Foundation notes that in 1955 32 states enacted new or higher taxes. In 1959 there were 33. The number dipped to 7 in 1960, rose to 24 in 1961, and dwindled to 3 in 1962.

Last year's reprieve, says the foundation, "was by all indications the lull before the storm and not the beginning of any trend."

It predicts: "The storm is likely to break in 1963, when scores of major tax proposals are expected to appear on legislative agendas."

The foundation's survey identified specific proposals totaling about $1.7 billion of new state revenues but dollar estimates were not available, or were available only in part, for 18 of the 33 states.

Since then, governors' budget messages and other state legislative proposals have filled in some gaps. It now appears that the grand total of pending proposals would exceed $2.5 billion, most of which would be felt in calendar 1964.

Such a total would mean offsetting Kennedy's second-year reductions to almost the same consideration as this year's federal tax relief would be offset by the Social Security and postal rate increases.

A good many legislatures almost certainly will reject or reduce the proposed tax increases, or resort to borrowing. Some about the same basis as they do for the federal income tax, may find revenue-boosting reforms, which Kennedy seeks — including curtailed personal deductions — would become part of these state systems, unless the state rules are changed. The federal rate cuts would not necessarily be carried over into the state systems, so state tax liability would be increased.

Court Shelves 187 Convictions

Robert F. Kennedy opened the whole matter up to investigation with a statement that no U.S. air cover had been promised the invaders.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., accused Kennedy of trying to make a "readjustment of facts."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who appeared on the program with Scott, said his colleague was engaging in "Monday morning quarterbacking."

"All of your talk about the Bay of Pigs was after the event," he told Scott.

He went on to say that by advocating drastic action against Cuba now, Scott was "trying to do some Friday afternoon quarterbacking—and you don't know the signals."

Scott went on to urge an ultimatum to the Soviets to get their troops out of Cuba. He said the United States should get its Latin American neighbors to join in a "total Western Hemisphere blockade" of Cuba.

The chairman of the Organization of American States said Sunday night he thought the OAS would support another blockade.

OAS Chairman Gonzalo J. Facio noted in a television interview that the organization voted unanimously last October to support the U.S. quarantine on offensive arms shipments to Cuba.

In Cuba, clothes rationing was to go into effect today in the Havana area. The Castro government said the rationing is aimed at destroying speculation and insuring a fairer distribution.

Ambassador Reported Well After Surgery
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, the U.S. envoy to Germany, is progressing very well after undergoing minor surgery last Friday, State Department sources said today.

They said he is resting comfortably at Cornell Medical Center in New York, where he was taken after suffering a kidney attack on his way back to his post in Bonn.

Officials declined to speculate on precisely when Dowling will be able to proceed to Bonn.

The same officials firmly knocked down speculation that Dowling might be replaced as Ambassador to Bonn in the foreseeable future. There were rumors earlier this year that Undersecretary of State George McGhee might be appointed to the post.

More recently, some German newspapers have speculated about the possibility that Gen. Lucius D. Clay would be named.

Both are speculations without any foundation, officials here said.

Clark's dissent said the city manager of Columbia testified that a dangerous situation was building up and South Carolina courts expressly found the situation had created interference with traffic and threatened disturbance of the peace of the community.

"It is my belief," Clark said, "that anyone conversant with the almost spontaneous combustion in some Southern communities in such a situation will agree that the city manager's action (in deciding that danger to peace and safety was imminent) may well have averted a major catastrophe."

Cormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, graduating in 1937.

His first parish was the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Campbellport, where he served as pastor for almost three years. He came to Immanuel United Church of Christ, Kaukauna, his second parish, on Aug. 1, 1939.

The Kaukauna parish had about 300 parishioners when the Rev. Mr. Scheib arrived, and has grown to more than 525 persons when he left. In 1954 an $87,000 addition to the church and Sunday school was completed under his direction. In 1955 he celebrated his 25th year in Kaukauna and his parishioners presented him with a new automobile.

He was installed as president of the North Wisconsin Synod of Evangelical and Reformed Churches in September, 1958. The synod was composed of 73 churches with a total of 25,000 members, and covered the entire north half of the state. His headquarters were in Appleton.

The Northeast Wisconsin Association of the United Church of Christ was organized in Wausau in January, following the merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Church as the United Church of Christ. The Rev. Mr. Scheib, as first association minister, had under his jurisdiction 74 churches and 93 ministers. His headquarters continued to be in Appleton.

Family Survives
The Rev. Mr. Scheib is survived by his wife, one daughter, one son, two brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the First Congregational Church, Appleton. Dr. Clarence McCall, president of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ; the Rev. Edward C. Dahl, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and the Rev. John Seidler, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, will officiate. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home from 3 p.m. today until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, and then at the church until the time of services.

Oscar Nominations Announced Today

BY JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood begins its annual dizzy Oscar carnival today by announcing the 1963 Academy Award nominations.

Reflecting the global aspect of movie making, it looks as if this year's awards will be the most international yet.

One Italian picture, "Divorcee Italian Style," is rated a good chance to cop a best picture nomination and also a best actor nomination for star, Marcello Mastroianni. Mastroianni doesn't speak English.

"The Longest Day," Darryl F. Zanuck's personal movie invasion of Normandy, is a strong candidate also. It is the first multiple language movie wherein the German, French, English and American soldiers speak lines in their native tongues.

Dead Playwright
There also could be a chance of a deceased playwright who never wrote a word for the movies being nominated for best screen play.

Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," is a favorite for a best picture nomination. Its makers filmed O'Neill's story of his tragic family mostly as a photographed play, using the famed dramatist's stage director as a working script. He got going.

Much of the competition is expected to involve such movies as "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Days of Wine and Roses," "The Music Man," "Lawrence of Arabia," and "The Manchurian Candidate," among others.

Best Actor
For the best actor award the prenomination predictions are pouring but he continued on Gregory (Mockingbird) Peck, other drums.

Jack (Wine and Roses) Lemmon, Jason (Long Day's Journey) Richards Jr., Robert (Music Man) Preston, Peter (Lawrence of Arabia) O'Toole and Mastroianni.

For top actress there will be two old-timers favored to win nominations—Katharine Hepburn as the tormented, dope-addicted mother of O'Neill's play and Bette Davis as the eccentric former child star in "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?"

But they will have tough competition, if the oddsmakers are right, from such younger stars as Anne Bancroft in "The Miracle Worker," Geraldine Page in "Sweet Bird of Youth" and Lee Remick, the alcoholic wife in "Days of Wine and Roses."

Winners will be named at the traditional award ceremonies April 8.

Dante Band Claims Record as It Plays For Over 80 Hours

BRANTFORD, Ont. (AP) — Mel Rowe's Midnight Ramblers, a five-piece dance band, claimed a record of sorts Sunday by playing 80 hours, 33 minutes without stoppings.

Beginning Wednesday the musicians rambled through between 1,800 and 2,000 tunes, with vocalist "Days Ray" Reeves singing 1,200.

Each member took a five-minute break during the first 2 hours and a 10-minute rest every hour for the remainder of the music marathon. Don Kendrick's drums gave out after 8 hours of steady prenomination predictions are pouring but he continued on Gregory (Mockingbird) Peck, other drums.

 "I thought the best possible arrangements had been made in the agreement with President Roose-

 The British were certainly disappointed. So, later, were the French. Now President Kennedy, for the sake of the cold war al-new kind of agreement. He calls it a multinational nuclear force.

 That's a vague, mushy-sounding am late in 1946 to discuss a future

 atomic partnership. In his memoirs written years later, Truman recalled asking the State Department for an interpretation of the Quebec agreement.

He got this answer and stood by
 it: exchange of information on how to manufacture the bomb—
 "know-how"—was to be shared only if necessary to get the bomb
 made.

The department said this was understood by Churchill's experts
 working on the problem. But when Churchill was writing many years later he still seemed to have a different understanding.

U.S. reasoning went like this:
 Although the United States had a monopoly on the bomb in 1945,
 the Russians eventually would learn how to make it. Meanwhile,
 this country wasn't going to help
 the Russians break the monopoly
 by divulging manufacturing
 "know-how."

On Aug. 1, 1946 Congress made
 the clamp-down on information
 doubly sure with the Atomic Energy Act.

As time passed the United States had to balance its concern
 about secrecy against its concern
 for the NATO alliance since it was holding back information in a field upon which the strength of
 the partnership depended.

The United States had to rearrange its thinking. In 1955 it agreed to exchange some information with the British who, by 1957, exploded a nuclear device of their own. The Russians by then
 had a bomb of their own.

In 1958 Congress amended the act of 1946, allowing the President
 to give allies information on weapons and materials but not weapons or parts of weapons. This could be done only when an ally
 had made "substantial" progress
 in the development of atomic weapons. It gives a president room for choosing.

So far Britain has qualified, but not France, although France has had its own atomic explosions.
 They are the only two who have
 made what might be considered
 substantial progress.

French President de Gaulle
 wants to make his own nuclear force.

He has this kind of concern, involving the most important restriction of all in the law Congress passed: no matter where American nuclear weapons are placed—say in Europe—the United States must not turn control of them over to anyone else. Thus the United States alone can say when, or if, a weapon is to be fired.

French Fear
 This leaves De Gaulle with the
 fear—and who can say this country would not feel the same if the positions were reversed?—that in some crisis the United States, for its own reasons, might not be willing to pull the trigger to back up its allies.

Now Kennedy has offered Britain — and France, too, although
 France turned him down — missiles for which she will have to make her own warheads.

Still unanswered because Kennedy as of now probably doesn't know the answer is this question:

What good are the missiles to
 the allies if they don't have warheads to put on them? He can't give them the warheads unless Congress changes the law, so what does it add up to? Nobody seems to know.

Choreographer Has Complaint About TV

Expert Has Been Supplying Grace, Movement to Shows for 15 Years

BY CYNTHIA LOWEY

NEW YORK (AP)—"My complaint about most television variety shows is that they call in the choreographer when they can't solve their problems any other way," observed James Starbuck, dancer and choreographer.

"They know they have to put some movement into their shows. If they don't, people might just as well listen to a stack of records."

But calling in a man to plan some dancing and movement late in the game is like calling in the plumber to patch up a leak after it's done the damage.

Starbuck has been putting movement and dancing into television shows for 15 years. He has developed a specialty of supplying non-dancers — principally singers and dramatic stars with enough simple dance steps to "integrate" them into variety shows or, at least, to get them gracefully on and off stage.

Mitch's Chorus
It was Starbuck who turned all those celebrity guests on the old "Arthur Murray Party" into one-shot waltzers, cha-cha-chas and jitterbug practitioners. It was Starbuck who turned the 25-man "Sing Along With Mitch" chorus, bald-headed, middle-aged beef trust, into mobile performers.

"It was difficult," he conceded. "The men were ready, willing and able—but they had spent years standing still as backgrounds or singing jingles off-camera. We held weekly dance classes, and we showed them how to watch the cameras. The big problem to overcome was getting them so they could move with the show — but still be able to think about the lyrics."

Starbuck, completing his third season as choreographer and sometimes dancer with the "Sing Along" gang, has deep differences of opinion with Miller about the entertainment focus of the program.

Opinions Differ
"Miller is, by background, and experience, a record man," said Starbuck. "He thinks the most important part of the show is to let the audience see that the 25 men in his chorus are singing. I guess he feels that if the audience does not see all of them, it won't know they are singing."

"I think that movement and beauty are vital—that when there is dancing, the audience wants to see the whole number—not have the camera cut away to show them standing by a fountain, with their mouths open. But Mitch doesn't care about anything except the guys — he doesn't even want them to use props. He's just not interested in the dancing — 'Let them be klutzes,' he keeps saying."

Starbuck says his toughest problem in getting movement into the show results from Miller's practice of having the chorus record the songs in advance, but not on camera. Then he must plan the production numbers around music which is already made.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 8:15 (EST) — Dancer Eleanor Powell returns as guest star; "Night Run to the West," CBS, 10-11 — drama.

Jackie Gleason plays a poor and simple, mute janitor of Paris in the comedy drama "Gigot," opening Wednesday at the Appleton Theater. Here he receives a kiss for his kindness from five-year-old Diane Gardner, who portrays a street waif he befriends. Gigot is a man full of humanity who loves all people, animals and funeral processions.

'Nine Hours to Rama' Called Great Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film maker Mark Robson has taken the historical fact of Mohandas K. Gandhi's assassination and fashioned around it a fictional melodrama, "Nine Hours to Rama."

The result is a generally exciting movie, set against stunning Indian scenes. It may well help to restore the fading fortunes of 20th Century-Fox.

The ethic of turning recent history into fiction might be argued. The screenplay, taken from Stanley Wolpert's novel, features only two real-life figures, Gandhi and the assassin, Nandu Godse. The intention was to explain how anyone could kill such a saintly man.

In this Robson succeeds. So much sympathy and understanding is built up for Godse, compellingly played by Horst Buchholz, that the moviegoer finds himself in a dilemma: identify with the zealot's misguided cause but repugnance with his mission.

Robson, a careful craftsman ("Champion," "Peyton Place," "My Foolish Heart"), plays these mixed emotions for all they are worth. Some of his side trips into romance seem irrelevant, but when he sticks to the buildup toward the violent event, he is on sure ground.

"Nine Hours to Rama" is magnificent pictorially. The crowd scenes, the temples, the funeral pyres — all are photographed as part of the plot.

Robson drew from the large Indian film industry to augment his British crew. The crowd stuff is marvelously realistic. The principal players are largely Western, and that interferes somewhat with the suspension of disbelief. When Buchholz speaks fondly of his Indian motherland, you hear faint echoes of a distant fatherland, but his portrayal is successful on the whole.

The most brilliant casting in program sponsors who just may have some salesmen of their own. Well, it has worked often enough before, so it probably will again.

Borge Hits Lincoln Hall For Special

BY TV SCOUT

8-6 (Channel 11) — The Victor Borge Show has the soloist in supreme form. Borge himself told the TV Scout that he feels the musical presentation on his show—what with its origin in Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall and a full 80-piece orchestra behind him—is the best he has yet done on television. Non-music lovers will delight in knowing that his comedy is tops, too.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Dakotas travels to darkest cliville for this tale of a town-taming sheriff who suddenly seems bent on getting himself killed.

6:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — "King of the Khyber Rifles" is the Monday Night at the Movies bill of fare. This 1955 adventure yarn, filmed in and set to India, was one of the late Tyrone Power's patented chin-up roles. (Color)

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — The joke on the Lucky Show is a mild one, but it is enough to let Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance do some minor cavorting. They are frightened by rumors of prowlers in the neighborhood, so take some judo lessons.

8-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Danny Thomas Show is turned over to Bill Dana, Jack, stock and comedy. As Jose Jimenez, he's the elevator operator who takes pity on the kids when they haven't enough money to buy an anniversary gift for Sid Melton and Pat Carroll.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Just as Bill Dana makes The Danny Thomas Show, so does Don Knotts make The Andy Griffith Show. His work as Deputy Briffley Shifshins in this episode, and when Andy and Barney try to figure out who's been looting the gas station.

9-9:30 (Channel 5) — Col. John Glenn pops in on David Brinkley's Journal for a half-hour chat with Brinkley. He uses his time to televise the statement, made on television by Walter Schirra to Walter Cronkite, that his fame has forced him to neglect his work. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 11) — Ben Casey has one of his best shows, because it deals with a somewhat hush-hush subject—child beating. You'll see how the hospital staff becomes aware that an accidental "fall from a swing" which kills one child and injures another was actually a case of child beating. And what they can—and cannot—do about it.

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5) Tonight's guests are Carmel Quinn, Jackie Mason, Lucie Hawkins and John Bubbles. (Color)

Ralph Votapek Among Soloists For '63 Festival

Thor Johnson Names Guest Headliners for Fish Creek Concerts

Ralph Votapek, young Milwaukee pianist who won the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition last fall, leads the list of guest soloists for the 11th annual Peninsula Music Festival next August at Fish Creek. The soloists were announced today by Dr. Thor Johnson, festival director.

In addition to Votapek, other headliners will be the festival orchestra's own concertmaster, Charles Tregler, winner of the 1956 Wieniawski Competition in Poland; the noted German pianist Hans Richter-Haaser, the young American mezzo-soprano, Shirley Verrett, and John McCollum, tenor.

Regular members of the festival ensemble who also will be heard in solo roles include Harold Cruikshanks, cellist; William Rhein, double bass player; clarinetist Raymond Gariglio, and pianist Mary Sauer.

Opening Date Aug. 10
Richter-Haaser will be the soloist for the opening concert on Saturday evening, Aug. 10.

Miss Verrett, formerly known as Shirley Verrett-Carter, has made sensational progress since her Town Hall debut in 1958. She has been a featured vocalist with both the New York Philharmonic and Philadelphia Orchestras and

Kimberly WCOF Names Group to Select Officers

KIMBERLY — A nominating committee to present a slate of officers for election at the March 21 meeting has been appointed at a meeting of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters of Holy Name Catholic Church.

Committee members are Mrs. B. G. Ouellette, Mrs. Emil Van Dyke and Mrs. Elmer Hoffman. Plans were made to take part in the Outagame Deafness Day of Recollection to be held at the parish March 10. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Willard Van Grinsven by March 6. Retreat master will be the Rev. Alfred Lison, spiritual director at Xavier High School.

The group will receive Easter Holy Communion at the 8:30 a.m. mass March 24. Members of the lunch committee were Mrs. Carl Vanden Boom, Mrs. Lawrence Artz and Mrs. Marvin Ebben.

was one of the array of top artists chosen to perform at the opening of Philharmonic Hall in New York's new Lincoln Center. Dr. Johnson also announced the commissioning of two new works for festival premieres. One is "Chronologic Variations" by Heuvel Thiruit, American composer now living in Japan. He had a commissioned work performed by Johnson at Fish Creek two years ago and he has authored the program notes the last two seasons. "Dance Suite" by a young Chicago musical named Muszynski will be performed Aug. 24. The festival again will be followed by a week-long conductors' symposium under Dr. Johnson's direction.

Crisis May Loom In Steel Industry

BY VICTOR RIESEL

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — It's open season on crises on this front. But you ain't seen nothin' yet. Summer time next year '64 will see the expiration of two huge contracts—those covering the national steel industry and the auto making business. And lest we forget, summertime next year will also see the tension grow in John Kennedy's campaign for re-election.

The middle of a presidential election battle is no time for crises or labor management deadlines. They could become the issues on which the campaign would be fought. Actually there should be no contract time deadlines and this is not as strange as it sounds.

There is a feeling among insiders that along with political hysteria these deadlines breed recessions. Manufacturers and merchants and dealers see a labor deadline coming. They run scared of a strike. They begin buying and stockpiling.

Buying Ceases
Production goes round the clock. There's heavy overtime.

Speaking for the steel industry are U. S. Steel's executive vice president Conrad Cooper and vice president Heath Larry, also Republic Steel's vice president Harold "Lefty" Lumb, and Bethlehem Steel's vice president Russell A. Branscom.

The public should know what these men and their aides talk about. One of the most glib problems is something called "contracting out." It is possible that a national strike could break out over this matter—possible but not probable now that it is being quietly discussed, hour after hour, day after day. What is contracting out?

Judge Appoints Condemnation Group in Calumet

CHILTON — A void in Calumet County's governmental structure was filled this week when Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane appointed a condemnation commission.

At the commission's organizational meeting at the courthouse here, Howard Leppla, a Brillion attorney, was elected commission chairman. The newly appointed commissioners were instructed on the functions of the unit.

Appointed to three-year terms, in addition to Leppla, were Ronald Dhein, Chilton, Joseph Goe- ser, Town of Brothertown, Jerome Hemauer, New Holstein, Alfred Schumacher, Stockbridge, and Leonard Suttner Hilbert.

Commission Services

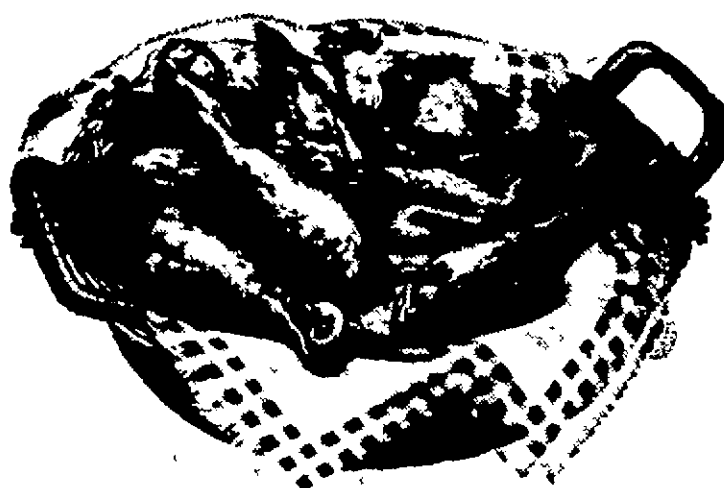

Services of the commission are seldom required by the courts but the need for a county unit arose when the Chilton High School District inaugurated condemnation proceedings against two Chilton property owners in an effort to secure property for a swimming pool addition to the school.

It is expected that the commission will conduct a hearing on the matter soon.

ter of repairing electric motors rewinding the armatures, for example. At some plants the steel workers' union members used to do this. Then the steel firms contracted out. They sent the motors to shops in the neighborhood. Men in the mill were laid off. Even window washing has been affected the same way.
